

HOME Garden & LIFESTYLE GUIDE

DIY... Get started on your home DIY projects this Easter just like Wayne, Brampton and Jakayla Williams. See inside for some easy DIY ideas.

Get savvy with DIY projects around the home

HOME DIY projects make your home more yours.

They exude your personality and style, and reflect your needs and lifestyle.

A home full of DIYed items has more character and charm, and can be a practical way of saving money, repurposing old and used items, and expressing your creativity.

While there are some renovating tasks which should definitely be left to the experts, there are plenty of DIY home decor ideas you can easily tackle yourself.

From statement lighting to wall decor ideas and easy, renter-friendly DIY home projects, you can be inspired to refresh your home... and it's not as hard as you might think.

Here are some easy home DIY project ideas and designs to inspire your next project.

1. Floating box shelves

Floating shelves are functional space savers which can be installed in any room. Shelves provide storage and display spaces, along with dressing up a blank wall.

2. Paint your floors

While it's not a look for everyone (and it's difficult to reverse if you change your mind), white floors pack a massive punch. Preparation is key - so don't skip the sanding and priming.

3. Pendant feature light

Even if you're locked into a pre-existing lighting plan, you can easily change the look and feel of a room with a new pendant light. New lights should always be installed by a qualified electrician, but you can get involved in the assembly and hanging.

4. Style a vignette

If you're just getting started, vignette styling (rearranging or framing of objects) is one of the easiest DIY home projects for beginners. Breathe new life into those empty corners by creating an inviting nook. Cover the walls with a roll or two of wallpaper in a fun print, add an eye-catching artwork in an inexpensive frame, then create a vignette of items atop a hall table or bar cart.

5. Bathroom one-day DIY home projects

It's one of the first rooms in the home to start showing wear and tear, but it's also one of the most expensive to renovate. So, in between renos, give your bathroom a quick update with just a few simple changes — think new tapware, towel rails, drawer handles, doorknobs, mirrors, hooks or a flashy new shower curtain.

Most, if not all, of these ideas can be ticked off in a day and make great DIY home projects for beginners.

Your guide to a green thumb

- EASTER is the perfect time to nurture your green thumb.
- If you are looking to expand your gardening skills, you have to start somewhere, and the change of seasons can be the perfect time to do so.
- However, whatever the time of year, it's always the ideal time to refine your green thumb!

Choose the right plants for your soil. Before you buy any plants, check the soil type you have. Is it light and sandy, or heavy and clay? Many plants thrive better in one type than the other. If you're not sure, take a look at what plants are growing in your neighbours' gardens.

Give plants enough space. Don't be tempted by the displays at the garden centre and buy too many plants for the size of your garden bed. If you place young plants too close together, not all will survive and, if they do, they will need more frequent watering and fertiliser.

Be gentle with new plants. If you remove new plants from their pots by pulling their stems, you're likely to break or bruise them. Instead, gently squeeze the pot sides and turn it upside-down, using your other hand to catch the plant as it slides out.

Soak your roots. Thoroughly soak the roots of a new plant before you put it in the soil. Also, make sure the hole is bigger than the root ball before you attempt to put it in. A plant's roots need to be able to spread to obtain moisture and absorb the soil's nutrients.

Water your plants mindfully. Plants are designed to live outside and to draw natural moisture from the earth without the need for daily artificial irrigation. As a rough guide, poke your fingers about two inches into the soil around the plant. If it's very dry, add some water, but if it isn't, step away from the plant!

Be brutal with weeds. It's important to learn early on that weeds are a gardener's worst enemy. Weed regularly and make sure you remove all their roots. If there are seeds clinging to the weeds, don't put them in the compost heap, as you'll end up re-seeding your weeds when you spread the compost.

The time to invest is now

ARDROSSAN is only going to grow bigger from here on, according to Blights Real Estate property consultant Jade Greenslade.

“Why not think ahead and invest in the area by purchasing this neat and tidy, three-bedroom solid-brick home?” Jade asks.

“This property is also a perfect choice for anyone looking to purchase their first home.

“You will have plenty of space to enjoy the outdoors on the large, 1589 square metre block.

“There’s room to build a decent sized shed, as well as a pergola or entertainment area (subject to consents) or create your own dream garden —the list goes on.

“The current owners have recently completed upgrades including a new reverse-cycle split-system SS air conditioner, new gutters, new front and back security screen doors, new electric roller door on the garage and new lights throughout.

“The roof has been restored and they’ve created an easy access to the backyard, amongst other upgrades.

“Be sure to book a private inspection, via phone or SMS to 0439 578 670, or email jade@blights.com.au,” Jade says.

Bring your dreams to life with Country Living Homes

Advertising Promotion

IN AN era the home has transcended its traditional role and become a sanctuary, there is an ever-growing demand for creating spaces that reflect individual tastes as well as being suited to the modern family.

This is the mantra of the Country Living Homes team, which works to ensure they are consistently abreast of emerging trends and products that elevate aesthetics and functionality of their new home builds.

One of the team's defining features is their commitment to creating premium designs.

Home builders have the flexibility to create a custom plan or choose from Country Living Homes' extensive range of designs; either way, you can rest assured your home will be designed and built so it is unique to you.

The CLH team understands a home should be a reflection of personal style and a practical space for everyday life.

With this in mind, they collaborate closely to understand their clients' lifestyles and unique needs.

Gone are the days of cookie-cutter plans; now, homemakers can create bespoke interiors that reflect their individual personalities.

This is made simple in Country Living Home's premium design studio, Studio Envy. The studio is at the forefront of interior design trends, harnessing the latest products to bring CLH clients' dreams to life.

No aspect is overlooked in the selections process with Studio Envy offering a meticulous selection of high-quality fixtures and fittings from reputable suppliers.

This attention to detail is the driving force behind Country Living Homes' success as a multi-award-winning builder.

If you want to build a custom home which incorporates all the latest trends, look no further than Country Living Homes, the seventh-largest HIA builder in the state.

They're ready to bring your dreams to life.

HIGHLY DECORATED... Jack Ravenscroft, Mark Ravenscroft and Julia Ravenscroft are proud of Country Living Homes' 2023 HIA Project Home of the Year award, just one of the many accolades the family company has won since its inception.
