WITHDRAWAL

 By Sara Gilligan

Strathalbyn's NAB branch is the latest Fleurieu bank to "close its doors" on customers due to increased utilisation of online services.

NAB has announced the Albyn Terrace branch will close on February 2, 2023, drawing community criticism – including from Alexandrina Mayor Keith Parkes.

Earlier this year, Bank SA permanently closed its Goolwa branch in July following a shift towards cashless banking, with NAB following suit at Strathalbyn.

"It is really disappointing that after the support of the community for years and years, another bank is going to pull out of town," Mayor Parkes told The Southern Argus.

Christmas where the Argus grows

Approaching the most magical time of year, The Southern Argus is proud to hop onboard Santa's sleigh as Christmas Where the Angas Flows' major sponsor.

After a two-year hiatus due to COVID, thousands of people will gather at the Soldiers Memorial Gardens on Friday, December 16 for the 46th annual Christmas celebration, including pageant, market and fireworks – sponsored by your local community newspaper.

Christmas Where the Angas Flows Committee Chair Graham Jenke was thrilled by the partnership.

"It means we don't have to raise money for the fireworks, which are very popular, and it is a huge boost to us, the committee," he said.

"The Argus is a great newspaper and will be a huge help, especially with advertising the event, and will do more than we could ever do.

"We have such a good committee and everybody is working well together for the same cause – to put on a free event for the community."

Argus co-director Darren Robinson saw the opportunity as a "tremendous honour" for the team to be recognised as this year's presenting partner.

"In a year whereby your local newspaper, The Southern Argus, has already been so active with community participation, I am particularly proud of the relationship we've formed with the 'Christmas Where the Angas Flows' committee," he said.

"Together, we are spreading the message of Christmas and the joy that the season brings.

"Personally, I am very excited to see the return of this special event as an opportunity to connect with friends, neighbours and other community members."

Mr Jenke said the committee had received much support since the event's return announcement, and anticipated more than 3000 people to attend.

"I'd like to thank The Argus for coming on board, and encourage other local businesses to show sponsorship support," he said.

"It is a community event; we are doing it for the community and their customers are part of the community.

"The people they serve are the people that come here."

Those interested in making a donation can do so via the Christmas Where the Angas Flows Facebook page or by calling 0429 936 598.

While it's too late for postal entries, local residents are reminded that today (Thursday) marks the close for Local Government Election voting, at 5pm.

People with last-minute ballot entries may submit their votes at the Goolwa and Strathalbyn Alexandrina Council offices by close of business, and those voting in the Mount Barker District Council area can still do so, before 5pm, at a sealed ballot box at its Customer Service Centre – 1st floor, Local

Fleurieu businesses successful at South Australian Tourism Awards

The Fleurieu Peninsula came away as the most decorated region at the 2022 South Australian Tourism Awards earlier this month, with Alexandrina businesses featuring predominantly among the winners.

Delivered by the Tourism Industry Council South Australia (TiCSA), the SA Tourism Awards are the pinnacle of excellence within the state's tourism industry, recognising businesses and individuals who have demonstrated business excellence, innovation and outstanding achievement.

This year's winners were announced during a gala dinner at the Adelaide Convention Centre on Thursday, November 3, with Alexandrina's Kimbolton Wines taking home gold in Tourism Wineries, Distilleries and Breweries, Carriage of Occasion taking silver in Tour and Transport Operators, Spirit of Australia's Big Duck Boat Tour also taking silver in Ecotourism, De Groot Coffee taking bronze in Excellence in Food Tourism, and Beach Huts Middleton taking silver in 4-4.5 Star Accommodation.

Alexandrina Council CEO Nigel Morris congratulated the winners and participants.

"It is great to share in their success, and we see the ongoing delivery of the Business Alexandrina program is an important part of Alexandrina's Economic Development Strategy going forward," he said.

"Alexandrina Council was the first local council to establish a partnership with Tourism Industry Council to strategically support its local businesses.

"This support has produced a record number of finalists for Alexandrina in the SA Tourism Awards for the second year-in-a-row.

"I am proud to see our Business Alexandrina team supporting local businesses, and that we also received industry recognition in the Tourism Development Program winners for the 2022 Local Government Professionals Leadership Excellence Award earlier this year."

Murray River Trails received The Premier's Award for Service Excellence, and was inducted into the South Australian Tourism Awards Hall of Fame after winning Ecotourism for the third consecutive year.

In addition, Monarto Safari Park came away with three awards on the night – Tourist Attractions, Excellence in Accessibility, and Voters' Choice Experience Service.

Zoos SA Chief Executive Elaine Bensted said the awards were a wonderful recognition of Monarto Safari Park's work.

"So many people love nature, and a trip to Monarto Safari Park perfectly encapsulates a fun day out, but with a purpose – every visit connects people with nature and helps to save species from extinction," she said. "It means a lot when our members and visitors think we're the best.

"As a non-profit, we have to work twice as hard, and often with a lot less than most to offer an unbeatable experience.

"After all the hard work of building and moving into our new Visitor Centre, plus getting the new safari experience close to opening, it's great to see people recognise our efforts and facilities.

"We do great work in the conservation space, but none of it would be possible without our members and visitors."

Most will go on to represent South Australia at the national Qantas Australian Tourism Awards in Sydney on March 17.

Tourism Minister Zoe Bettison congratulated all the winners, medallists and entrants.

"It is wonderful to see a diverse range of operators represented in the winners of the 2022 South Australian Tourism Awards, from iconic experiences like Monarto Safari Park in the Murray River Lakes and Coorong region to unique destinations like the Bendleby Ranges in the Flinders Ranges and Outback," she said.

"The State Government is proud to support these awards, which celebrate tourism operators across our state who delivered world-class experiences and work hard to attract visitors, while helping cement South Australia's reputation as a must-see destination.

"I wish those going on to represent South Australia at the Qantas Australian Tourism Awards best wishes on the national stage."

SUNNY DAYS: Strathalbyn garden grows funds for Gilbert's Museum

Gasworks Cottages Open Gardens SA event across the weekend brought in many community members and visitors, raising just under $2300 from door entry.

Gilbert's Motor Museum was the nominated charity for the event, which raised further funds via a raffle and sausage sizzle.

About 323 people attended across Saturday and Sunday, which owner

Heather Dean believed to be "a good turnout".

"People were very complimentary on the garden, saying it's one of the best they have been to," she said.

Mrs Dean owns the two-acre property with her husband Graham, and spends on average about three to four hours a day working on the rambling, country garden alongside Angas River.

Alexandrina Wildlife Support Group is reminding locals to take care around snakes and turtles, which are active this time of year.

Watch out for snakes, turtles

Residents are being reminded to take care around turtles and snakes, which can often be spotted at this time of year.

An Alexandrina Wildlife Support Group spokesperson said multiple sightings of snakes have been reported in recent weeks.

"They are out while the sun is out, (but) it's not always the case as they are active on overcast days as well, like we saw last year," the group posted on Facebook.

"Never attempt to catch or move snakes yourself; leave them alone."

Alexandrina Wildlife Support Group said if they need to be removed, such as from a backyard, to call an expert snake catcher.

Locals are encouraged to watch where they walk, including their pets, and to keep four-legged friends on leads.

Rain and warmer weather can also attract freshwater turtles, particularly eastern longnecks, as females start heading off to their nesting sites.

"Please be careful on the roads, not only for you and other road users, but these vulnerable species," an Alexandrina Wildlife Support Group spokesperson said.

"If the turtle is uninjured and it is safe to do so, please assist the turtle to the side of the road (where) the turtle is heading."

If you find an injured turtle or have concerns, contact: (0407 726 351) or (0419 551 653), take turtle to nearest vet, or bring to Alexandrina Wildlife Support Group, at 12 Corio Terrace, Goolwa.

NAB Strathalbyn branch announces closure

"Strathalbyn is a growing community, and has a lot of people who are elderly and like going to the bank to do their banking in person.

"Businesses also need a bank. Not everybody pays with a credit card.

"It's just a shame, and they should be here for the community."

NAB Retail Customer Executive, Ann-Marie Simms, claimed no job losses would result in the local branch's closure and that customers would still be supported.

"We have worked closely with our colleagues on opportunities for them to continue to support customers either through other branches or across phone and digital channels," she said.

"Increasingly Australians are banking digitally, with more than 94 per cent of customer interactions now taking place over the phone, by video or online.

"While the Strathalbyn branch will no longer be there, we will still be there for our customers – just in different ways.

"Over the past few years, fewer customers are coming into branches to do their banking and foot traffic has lessened, which has been accelerated by COVID.

"More than half of our Strathalbyn customers have only visited the branch once in the last 12 months, and 68 per cent are already using other branches, including Mount Barker, which is the nearest alternative branch location."

Ms Simms assured local customers banking alternatives would be in place after the closure.

"These include our partnership with Australia Post and the Bank@Post service, as well as connecting with our mobile bankers, home lending specialists or business bankers in person or for phone or video appointments," she said.

"Bank@Post is available for our customers at Australia Post outlets including the Post Shop in Commercial Road, Strathalbyn."

According to NAB, both personal and business customers will be able to conduct a range of banking services at Strathalbyn Post Office, including deposits up to $9999 and withdrawals up to $2000 per day.

However, Mayor Parkes raised concerns on the alternative, including with carparking in the vicinity.

"It is going to put more load on Australia Post," he believed.

"That means another impact on parking adjacent to the post office which is already a concern for everybody, and you can only do so much at the post office."

Seeking support from Alexandrina CEO Nigel Morris, Mayor Parkes planned to write to NAB to reconsider the closure.

'Dire' situation for some High St businesses

By Tara Nash

High Street business owners raised concerns about local streetscape works and collaborated feedback at a meeting last Thursday.

Nine people met to discuss how the roadworks have allegedly disrupted their businesses, including through road closures, poor communication, need for more nearby carparks, uncertainty around timeframes and concerns for Christmas trade.

An Alexandrina Council spokesperson appreciated that during construction, works may be "difficult for businesses directly impacted".

"However, once complete the town centre revitalisation project will transform the town and draw people into this beautiful and much-loved township in the Alexandrina region," the spokesperson said.

The business owners plan to meet again this week.

Creek 'backyard' to host economy-boosting event

The Rubens will visit Langhorne Creek for the first time this Saturday for Handpicked Festival.

The Rubens ready to give it 'the best we got'

By Tara Nash

While The Rubens have visited Adelaide multiple times, this weekend will see their first visit to the region, Langhorne Creek, for the much-anticipated Handpicked Festival which is returning after a two-year hiatus.

Well-known songs include My Gun, Hoops and The Best We Got, with singer Sam Margin "really pumped" to perform to local audiences, and hoping to squeeze in a local winery visit between sound checks at Lake Breeze Wines.

"We really are (excited); it's been a while since we've played a show," he said.

"We've been working on a new record, so have been really selective with new shows."

"We're really looking forward to it."

Every time the alternative rock band travels to South Australia from Menangle, New South Wales, Margin is impressed by the crowds.

"We started touring (SA) on our first national tour back in 2011 or 2012... so we've always made an effort to get there," he said.

"We've always enjoyed the nightlife and the bars and the restaurants, which are amazing."

Margin joins the band of his brothers, Zaac and Elliott, and friends Scott Baldwin and William Zeglis.

The popular Australian group have been regulars in festival line-ups since their debut single in 2011.

They have now released four albums and have a decade of music to draw on when creating a set, with this weekend's Handpicked appearance including fan favourites from every album.

"We're in a lucky position now... we've got so much released material, we're able to just pick and choose," Margin said.

"Over this time, we've worked out how to put together a set that flows and feels good."

"With a festival set, we amp-up the energy a bit more, whereas a headline show you might bring things up and down, quiet and acoustic, (but) we want to create a bit of a party atmosphere for a festival; high-energy and hopefully all the songs that people are hoping to see."

Margin believes Handpicked Festival organisers have "put together something really special", with The Rubens joining a highly-anticipated line-up of artists including Hilltop Hoods, Babe Rainbow, The Dreggs, Hot Dub Time Machine, Middle Kids, Steph Strings and WAFIA.

"I'm actually looking forward to seeing all the familiar faces backstage," Margin said.

"Being backstage, fans don't get to see that, but all the comradie you have with other bands; we've all been through shared experiences.

"Hilltop Hoods obviously has a hugely energetic set, then closing it with a DJ, that's always great for the punters."

"It'll be great for us to get off stage not too late in the night, have a beer and go and watch the rest of it."

While live music has been opened for a while since the peak of COVID, Margin continues to be excited to perform at festivals again, and believes music fans still enjoy its novelty.

"I'm sure the punters are looking forward to the same vibe of just being in the same place, watching live music again," he said.

"I know we've been open for a while, but there still hasn't been a huge number of opportunities, especially in a festival capacity."

While the pandemic shut many live music opportunities, The Rubens were dealt a good hand.

"We were one of the luckier bands to get a lot of touring done during COVID," Margin said.

"We were able to do seated venues, we got 20-something shows of the tour done, which is kind of crazy."

"The borders seemed to keep closing behind us as we went around the country."

After more than a decade in the industry and multiple awards, including a recent APRA award for Most Performed Alternative Work and number one on the ARIA Albums Chart, Margin admits he can still experience moments of self-doubt.

"It's a learning curve, I have a combination of imposter syndrome and then, playing a show, I think 'actually no, we're pretty good at this'," he said.

"I look back at where we were, say, five, six, seven years ago, and realise that we have improved heaps."

"It's from repetition and it's about learning to feed off the audience and make it so that every night isn't exactly the same, whether it's the interactions with the crowd or the performance itself."

He believes the band has "definitely evolved" and still finds performing "extremely enjoyable".

"If it wasn't super fun, I don't think we'd be able to handle doing it, being on the road together, but we have a ball," Margin said.

This week, the musicians have also been recording for their fifth album which will be released early next year, and are planning a national and overseas tour in 2023.

By Tara Nash

The local region will have an influx of visitors over the weekend when more than 7000 festivalgoers flock to Langhorne Creek for Handpicked Festival.

About one quarter of attendees will sleep overnight in Lake Breeze Wine's Tent City before meandering back home through local towns, and another quarter have booked buses from surrounding districts, selling out most accommodation providers between Murray Bridge to Victor Harbor.

"We believe it really injects money into the economy, but also puts the Fleurieu Peninsula on the map," organiser Kate Cooper said.

Held at Lake Breeze Wines, the festival started as a small backyard concert seven years ago, and since then, has brought in some big names such as John Butler, Matt Corby and Birds of Tokyo.

This year, the huge line-up has Australian favourites Hot Dub Time Machine, Hilltop Hoods, The Rubens, Middle Kids, Babe Rainbow, WAFIA, The Dreggs and Steph Strings.

"Hilltop Hoods are no doubt a crowd favourite," Ms Cooper said.

"I, however, believe that the line-up as a whole is very strong."

"Punters are going to see some of Australia's best artists all in the one space."

"Let's not lie, I'm pretty pumped to see The Dreggs live."

The "sensory experience" will include 13 market stalls, 20 food trucks, a hideaway space for parents and a cocktail forest.

Attendees to the sold-out event are reminded that rain is forecast for Saturday. "Please pack a poncho and a good attitude," Ms Cooper said.

"We are asking Mother Nature to be kind, but hey, lots of fun can still be had in the rain."

Ms Cooper is also recommended people carpool as parking "will be tight".

"Bring on Handpicked," she said.

Budget cut leaves council in the lurch over Sugars Beach development

By Giorgina McKay

It's back to the drawing board for Alexandrina Council, which will have to reconsider funding plans for the Sugars Beach project following the discontinuation of the Building Better Regions Fund (BBRF).

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, Labor's first Federal Budget since being elected axed the BBRF in favour of spending $1 billion over three years for competitive grants in the growing regions, regional precincts and partnerships programs, leaving those who applied in Round 6 to miss out on $250 million worth of grants to help crucial projects move forward.

This includes council, which applied for Federal Government funding for the Sugars Beach project under the latest round and will now have to reassess its options.

"We confirm council has been notified by the Federal Government that the program has been discontinued, however, council has been advised a new application can be submitted to the new Growing Regions Program," Council CEO, Nigel Morris, said.

"A report will be presented to council post-elections, with options regarding this project and associated funding.

"In determining the next steps, council will consider the outcomes of the public consultation in relation to this project."

The Goolwa Wharf redevelopment project is partially funded by previous BBRF rounds and remains unaffected by the program's axing.

Hail to the bus driver, bus driver man

By Tara Nash

Eastern Fleurieu School bus driver Brian Edwards – known as Bandy – hung up his keys for the last time after his final school drop-off last Tuesday.

Students and parents gave him a warm send off by surprising him with three signs along his morning route saying goodbye, as well as gifting him cards and presents.

"The ones on the side of the road were a big surprise," Mr Edwards said.

"It was fantastic, I absolutely loved it.

"I've got enough chocolates to keep me going for the next 12 months."

Mr Edwards was emotional on his final day, passionate about the job after eight and a half years in the driving seat.

The Murray Bridge resident worked for Eastern Fleurieu School through Willunga Charter, and drove the route of Meadows, Ashbourne and Strathalbyn.

"I enjoy working with children, I have done all my life with surf lifesaving," he said.

"I just like the love and the things they say and the things we talk about.

"They're treasures, absolute treasures.

"Kids are my life; I've always been working with them."

Hannah Jenkins was one of the parents whose children created goodbye signs.

"My girls catch the bus... It's quite a highlight of the kids' day," she said.

"Bandy's really special; they purposely sit up the front to be engaged."

Georgia Drew's family created a sign which read 'thank you Bandy' located along his route.

"He is just such a lovely, true gentleman with a big heart," she said.

"(He has) a soft spot for dogs too; my three-year-old blue heeler would launch himself up the steps into the bus for smooches from Bandy.

"We all just wanted a way to wish him all the best so I'm glad he had a nice send-off."

Bus driving was just one of the ways Mr Edwards integrated himself with local residents.

The community-minded man was awarded a Medal of the Order of Australia (OAM) in 2019 for his 42 years of service to surf lifesaving with Port Elliot Surf Life Saving Club.

Mr Edwards will now enjoy retirement with Helen, his wife of 54 years, his two children and five grandchildren.

"My next job is a fishing rod," he said.

"Now it's time to call it a day.

"Now it's time to hang up the keys."

Concert proceeds will be donated to the St. Andrews Restoration fund.

The choir will present works ranging from

Tyndale seniors cheer on their peers

By Giordina McKay

Tyndale Christian School captains Samuel and Shaneika are wishing their peers the best of luck with their end-of-year exams over the next two weeks.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, more than 12,000 SACE students are expected to complete the final step in their secondary studies from Monday just gone.

Year 12 Tyndale student Samuel felt “pretty confident” about his Mathematical Methods exam, while fellow senior Shaneika had a few nerves coming up to her Nutrition test.

“I’m a little bit nervous because I’ve only got one exam, but I’m pretty confident going into it because I can just focus on that one and then hopefully, do well in it,” she said.

In preparation for the big day, the captains took to revising over previous years’ exams to help them study.

“At the moment, if I’m stressing about it, I just do homework, whereas if I’m not stressed, I don’t do it, which is a bit bad, but it’s working out because I’ve been practicing a lot with the past exams for the subject,” Samuel said.

“And I’ve been spacing them out, so it’s given me time to do it as an actual exam, mark it, then look at the questions I got wrong, and focus on those questions in the review books.

“Then I’m doing that process over (again), so it’s making me a little bit more confident than I was a while ago.”

Shaneika also sought the aid of her teachers.

“I’ve created cue cards for each chapter of the book and sections I personally struggle with,” she said.

“I’m the same (as Samuel), with doing trial exam tests, then if I get a question wrong or don’t understand it, I’m asking my teacher ‘How am I doing this wrong? Can you explain it?’

“Then I’m trying to do a different test, but a bit similar, and seeing if I can improve my marks from the previous one.”

Samuel received early entry into Tabor College for a Bachelor of Theology, which he will endeavour to complete before pursuing a secondary teaching degree, while Shaneika will spend the next year working or travelling before applying for Paramedic Science at Flinders University.

The pair hoped their peers enjoyed similar success.

“Don’t feel discouraged if you don’t get the grade you want because there’s always alternatives to the pathway you want to go,” Samuel said.

Principal Sam Cheesman felt proud of the Year 12 cohort no matter the results, particularly captains Samuel and Shaneika.

“Interestingly, I’ve seen these two in particular step up,” he said.

“I know they feel nervous before, but they do come to believe in themselves, and I’ve seen them grow up as young adults and really

Tyndale Christian School captains Shaneika and Samuel along with Principal Sam Cheesman are wishing the Year 12 cohort the best of luck with their end-of-year exams. Photo: Giordina McKay admired the way in which they’ve developed as young people.

“They’ve taken courageous steps and enjoyed the success that’s come from it, so they’ve really used their God-given talents and have gotten a lot out of their schooling.”

The captains’ parting words of advice for next year’s graduating class were to believe in themselves and trust the process.

“Even if you’re struggling at the moment, you’re going to have a good outcome in the end,” Shaneika said.

“High school is a big section of your life, but taking the exams is just one small part of it, so believe in yourself and don’t leave things to the last minute.”

Samuel added students should reach out to someone if they need help.

“There’s also that wellbeing factor you definitely need to consider when going through Year 12, so I really think it’s good to be able to talk to someone, so you don’t feel as much of that load on you,” he said.

“Just so you’re not alone through this Year 12 process.”

Mr Cheesman looked forward to seeing the great things the class of 2023 achieves.

“We’ve got a bigger cohort next year,” he said.

“I’m looking forward to them going through the same thing – they grow to believe in themselves, they realise they are the older students and suddenly realise everybody does look up to them, and in that, they find a maturity from within and around them.

“I like the way the students bonded together, so I’m really looking forward to the Year 11s bonding as well as I have seen the Year 12s bond this year.”

SEEING RED: Mulgundawa family beefs up security after cow theft

By Giorgina McKay

It's been a difficult week for the Chandler family who had three Wagyu calves seemingly stolen from their Mulgundawa Dairy farm when they were in the middle of the night.

The day-old newborn cows had only begun to enjoy life at the organic-certified dairy farm near Langhorne Creek when they were allegedly swiped from 'under the nose' of fifth-generation farmer Jessica Chandler and her family.

The suspected theft is thought to have occurred sometime between 6pm Sunday, October 30 and 4am Monday, October 31.

"We get up at four o'clock (to) check the paddocks and calves, and that's when we noticed the gate was wide open," Ms Chandler said.

"They're pretty crafty and we have had them jump out before, but it was the fact we had enclosed them in the shed with a lock, plus the gates had been locked, because we were expecting wet weather."

The calves had been reared as part of an ongoing Wagyu program, and were intended for sale once healthy enough.

Their sudden disappearance means the family is unable to meet their quota, resulting in a financial loss not only for them, but the rest of the supply chain.

However, the monetary shortfall comes secondary to the calves' health in Ms Chandler's eyes.

"They're quite fragile, so you've got to make sure you're feeding them within the right times," she said.

"They are like your children, and they rely on you since they are away from their mums physically, so you're pretty much acting as that second mum to them, and you need to be able to provide them what they would."

"That's the disappointing thing – you don't know where they've gone or if they're getting that right attention and care... but you hope for the best wherever they are."

While the family has no leads at the moment, the suspect/s are believed to be local or at least from the industry due to the timing of the incident.

"Unfortunately, it seems pretty coincidental that someone would come and take newborn calves – you'd have to know to some degree how to look after them," Ms Chandler said.

"You can't just chuck them in the back of their boot, you'd have to have a trailer."

"I think someone's scoped it out, and knew they got stored right next to the dairy, and took their chances when we weren't there."

"I get the appeal in them because the money's obviously there and it's good in beef prices at the minute, but it's just a horrible thing to do."

Security measures at the farm have since been ramped up to prevent further theft.

It's the first time the family has had to implement these protocols, leaving them feeling "disappointed" and "annoyed".

"It's just unfortunate because we're fifth generation and in 70 years, it's never happened before," Ms Chandler said.

"Having to get keys and unlock things, it's just frustrating, but we're getting an electrician to put in cameras and CCTV, so we can watch it on our phones and get alerts if anything moves down there."

"It's just about stepping up that security

Jessica Chandler says the calves are like her own babies, and the recent disappearance of three of them has left her at a loss. Photo: Giorgina McKay. to make sure it doesn't happen again.

"It is a warning to other farmers to look out for their own stock; you just don't know what people are capable of."

The calves have yet to be found, but the family's message has been spread far and wide.

The initial post made to the Mulgundawa Dairy Facebook Page has been shared almost 400 times, which Ms Chandler was grateful for.

She hoped the calves would be returned, and asked anyone with information to contact the farm.

"People understand how much these animals mean to us and how distressing it is they've been taken in this manner," Ms Chandler said.

"That's why it's been so widely shared and talked about, which is amazing."

"It is what it is, and you keep on keeping on; it's all you can do."

Man arrested over Murray Bridge assault

A man was arrested for allegedly assaulting a woman at Murray Bridge last Wednesday.

Police were called to Lohmann Street just after 2.30pm on November 2 when a man allegedly attended a nearby house and assaulted a woman known to him.

The man was then seen staggering on the road by witnesses who contacted police to report his behaviour.

A 31-year-old man was arrested and charged with aggravated assault as a result.

He was taken to hospital for medical treatment, and will appear in court at a later date.

Police reassured the community no attempted carjacking or injuries were reported.

Man arrested over stolen motorbike

A Murray Bridge man was arrested over a stolen motorcycle on Monday.

At about 12pm on October 31, Murray Bridge police saw a pit bike being ridden on Frances Street before it was later found abandoned at a nearby home.

Officers conducted checks on the bike and discovered it had been stolen from Queensland in 2016.

Further enquiries located the alleged rider, who was found in possession of stolen clothing and an amount of methamphetamine.

The 29-year-old Murray Bridge man was arrested and charged with illegal use of a motor vehicle, unlawful possession, possessing a controlled drug, driving while disqualified, and driving unregistered and uninsured.

He was bailed to appear in Murray Bridge Magistrates Court on December 7.

Hit-and-run driver caught at Murray Bridge

A man was arrested after allegedly committing a hit-and-run at Murray Bridge on Sunday.

The Southern Argus understands at about 5pm, a car collided with a motorcycle at the Adelaide Road and Old Princes Highway intersection before the driver left the scene.

A witness followed the driver for a short time to Bridge Street, where he stopped the suspect and removed the car keys, but the driver allegedly fled again on foot.

The 55-year-old Murray Bridge East man presented himself to the local police station at about 9pm, where he submitted to a breath test and allegedly returned a reading of 0.232.

Further checks revealed the man was also disqualified from driving.

He was arrested and charged with aggravated causing harm by dangerous driving, leaving an accident scene after causing harm, aggravated driving without due care, and driving while disqualified.

The motorcyclist was taken to hospital with non-life-threatening injuries.

Driver to be sentenced over Strath tragedy

An elderly woman responsible for the death of her partner in a Strathalbyn collision last year pled the District Court to spare her from a jail sentence.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, a Toyota four-wheel drive collided with a tree near the High Street and South Terrace intersection, severely injuring driver Marguerita Elizabeth, aged 70.

Her passenger and 'life partner' Paul sadly passed away from his injuries at Mount Barker Hospital.

Elizabeth, of St Marys, previously pleaded guilty to an aggravated charge of causing death by dangerous driving.

Tim Clarke, for Elizabeth, urged the court on Monday to consider imposing a suspended or home detention sentence, claiming no punishment was greater than the one she had already endured losing her partner.

Elizabeth is suspected to have been impaired by cannabis at the time of the accident, according to prosecutors.

Judge Ian Press will sentence Elizabeth later this month.

The driver behind the Strathalbyn tree collision that killed a Milang man will be sentenced this month. Photo: Giorgina McKay

Strathalbyn High St works

Fiona Main

I am not a trader, but I do think the street is looking really smart. I disagree with people saying the pavers don't suit the landscape. I think they look great.

Julie Parsons

Why are they pulling up perfectly good roads and footpaths, and replacing them with something that will only last for a short while?

David Evans

It wouldn't be quite so bad if the finished product looked half decent. Modern pavers (are) completely out of character with the streetscape.

Schools in Brief

Eastern Fleurieu R-12 School

Eastern Fleurieu's years 5 and 6 basketball side recently competed in the State Finals for Large Schools. The girls raced out of the blocks, recording strong wins against Hillcrest, Woodend, Westminster College, and Highgate to finish top in their pool.

The crossover game was played against Glenelg Primary School, and after a slow start, the girls failed to make up the difference, going down in a tough loss.

Goolwa Secondary College

Goolwa Secondary College celebrated World Teachers' Day by holding a morning tea to recognise the amazing contributions and efforts of each staff member. Teachers were also presented with certificates of appreciation from the Governing Council. The school acknowledged teachers wear many different hats in their role providing educational, social and emotion support to young people, and thanked them for their service.

Tyndale Christian School

Tyndale Christian School year 9 students completed the Mount Lofty hike earlier this month as part of the Rite Journey program. Students hiked from the Summit to Waterfall Gully and back again, building resilience, empathy and gratitude along the way.

Letters to the Editor

Who's responsible?

In regards to the upgrading of the streetscape of Strathalbyn, the point made in your article that pavers are unsuitable for heavy vehicle traffic area can be seen in Mount Barker on the Hurling Drive, Albert Rd roundabout, where the pavers have sunk to a point where the council has filled in the depression with bitumen.

Another example of sunken pavers is the intersection of Hutchinson St and Morphett St, Mount Barker.

Your article explains that should the pavers in Strathalbyn need rectifying, the company who laid them will be held accountable for rectifying the problem, but in an atmosphere of building companies becoming insolvent, the council would have to pay for the repairs should the worst happen.

A more-needed traffic solution would be a safe pedestrian crossing on the corner of Dawson St and South Tce, where there has already been a fatality.

But it appears pretty pavers are higher on council's list of priorities than road safety.

Philip Birt, Angas Plains

Footpath cross-fall gradient

To allow sufficient drainage, footpaths should have minimum grade of 1:100 (1% fall).

To allow accessibility, the footpaths should have a maximum grade of 1:40 (2.5% fall).

If higher cross-fall up to 4% is required (about 1:25), it will be at the discretion of the city's engineer.

The above is for the City of Perth, but I doubt any other place has anything much different.

The question is, why hasn't problems with the footpaths also been included in the (Strathalbyn streetscape) upgrade?

At Swale Street on the south side, from the Sunter Street to the pub's bottle department, the cross-fall is excessive.

Only the replacement of some concrete pavers for different concrete pavers (I believe) is planned.

On the south side it has a kerb height of about 80mm – the minimum required is 150mm.

The footpath in front of my property has a cross path fall gradient of 1:10.

It is a massive amount above the maximum suggested of 1:40.

With the minimum being 1:100. None of those faults are being remedied.

The footpath is uncomfortable to walk on (need one leg longer than the other), it is uncomfortable for a mobility scooter, as the slope is too great.

The cosmetics will be horrible too.

The Commercial Hotel had their bottle shop exit extended a long way because some cars were scraping the road when exiting.

It gave council an opportunity to eliminate another carpark.

A simple grate would have been far less expensive and worked just as well and saved a fortune.

There is a nice new kerb around the abolished car park. The result is a kerb that looks good and is of the right height in front of the Commercial Hotel.

Apparently, my kerb will remain untouched, with the slope remaining at 1:10.

Just below my property a new kerb will be installed to narrow the road further with a new kerb.

I understand a kerb with a slope on the footpath will be way greater than would be considered acceptable.

It may also cause more vehicles to mount the kerb, potentially damaging my verandah posts.

So, I feel council is wasting massive amounts of ratepayer's money and not doing a proper job.

Also, considering council's declaration of a "Climate change Emergency" - why on earth concrete pavers?

Doesn't it know the manufacture of cement is one of the highest generators of CO2?

*S. Renfors,
Strathalbyn*

Funds raised for cancer-free future

Dear Editor, I would like to acknowledge all of the people who took part in the Adelaide Hills Relay For Life on Saturday, November 5 and Sunday, November 6 at Johnston Memorial Oval, Balhannah.

The special 19-hour event saw more than 200 people of all ages coming together and participating to celebrate, remember, and make strides against cancer.

I'd especially like to recognise the Adelaide Hills Relay For Life organising committee and volunteers, who worked tirelessly in the lead up to and during the weekend to pull the event together.

Through the dedication of the committee and the ongoing support of the local community, this year's event raised more than $75,000, with donations still coming in.

All the money raised through the 2022 Adelaide Hills Relay For Life will enable Cancer Council SA to fund vital research, prevention, advocacy, and support services that change lives.

The Adelaide Hills community's ongoing support of Relay For Life has ensured we can continue to be there to support every South Australian impacted by cancer.

On behalf of Cancer Council SA, thank you to everyone involved for their time, commitment, and passion.

Your dedication ensures we're working towards a cancer-free future.

The value of tourism

The local tourism industry is the lifeblood for many communities – particularly for regional areas like the Hills and Fleurieu – driving economic prosperity and employment opportunities.

As a region with world-class eco-tourism drawcards, scenic landscape, and wildlife, produce and cultural experiences, it should be of no surprise the area fared so well at the South Australian Tourism Awards Gala Dinner on Thursday.

Treasured businesses like Kimbolton Wines, Carriage of Occasion, Spirit of Australia's Big Duck Boat Tour, De Groot Coffee, and Beach Huts Middleton brought home trophies and boosted Alexandrina's reputation as a stellar tourist destination.

The past few years unarguably dealt the nation's tourism sector a devastating blow through the loss of travel, COVID-enforced restrictions, health concerns and forced isolation periods.

But throughout the pandemic, businesses have demonstrated how innovation, rising above unprecedented times and taking risks have paid off to those who persevered through the unknown.

This time last year The Southern Argus was filled with cancellation articles and updates on ever-changing restrictions.

Fast forward to now and the difference of the bustling local events calendar is extraordinary.

One only needs to look at this week's edition to see thriving communities putting on events for locals and visitors (near-impossible to fit in).

From the Strathalbyn Mass Bands Concert to open gardens, Macclesfield Bike Show and Mount Barker's Power of the Past, visitors are flocking to the region in droves for a variety of events.

News Christmas Where the Angas Flows will be revived in partnership with The Argus is also welcome.

It feels like Christmas has come early.

'MOVE IT, MOVE IT' to Monarto for new lemur exhibit

By Tara Nash

They once graced our screens as the fun, wide-eyed, ring-tailed King Julien in Madagascar, and now locals have a chance to get within tail's length of one of Australia's largest ring-tailed lemur troops at Monarto Safari Park.

Visitors can take an expedition through a 3.5-hectare habitat as the troop of 11 adult lemurs and four pups whip and zip from tree to tree or run between their feet.

The opening, this Monday, November 14, has been about three years coming, as the park has been settling the lemurs in the environment and with each other.

Monarto Safari Park Director, Peter Clark, said launching the experience is a "very significant milestone".

"Not only will it be an amazing way for our visitors to get up-close with a new species at Monarto Safari Park, but it is also the first experience to open in our Wild Africa precinct," he said.

"Land of the Lemurs is an insight into one of the world's most endangered primates and gives our visitors a chance to learn more about Zoos SA's conservation work and what we are doing to help species like the ring-tailed lemur in the wild."

Innkeeper Katya Lindsay said lemurs live in a female-dominated society with dynamic family groups, and settled with each other before visitors were introduced.

"In the wild, because families will stick in a group, it's not really a natural instinct for them to accept new females in; that puts them in competition for resources and for eating," she said.

Innkeeper Katya Lindsay said Monarto Safari Park's lemurs have been settling into the environment. INSET: Journalist Tara Nash enjoyed visiting the lemurs.

"Introducing boys is a bit easier because eventually they will have to get kicked out of the main group and find other males.

"Even within the same family unit... there are hierarchies.

"We want to make sure they've got those strong bonds, because that's going to help them have that sense of security."

Ring-tailed lemurs inhabit the south-west corner of Madagascar and get their name from their black and white banded tail, which is around 60cm long.

Ms Lindsay said being from a "less hospitable part of Madagascar" makes lemurs "pretty resilient to lots of things".

"They're pretty confident around people," she said.

"They're very social animals, the young ones are very playful and bouncy, the old ones get lots of grooming and cuddling.

"They're very inquisitive about anything in their environment."

The species are classified by the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species as endangered with habitat loss and poaching the biggest threat to the wild population.

Along with the other 20 species of lemur, these are one of the world's most endangered group of primates, with 95 per cent of lemur species threatened with extinction.

At Zoos SA, every entry ticket, animal experience, lemur adoption, or shop purchase helps support the conservation of species, like the ring-tailed lemur, in the wild.

"There's just as many lemurs in zoos as there are in the wild; about 2000 in the wild and about 2000 in captivity," innkeeper Nicky Tomkinson said.

"Conservation is a big thing for the lemurs, hopefully we can educate everyone about how amazing they are and get some money together to send back to help our wild friends."

At Monarto Safari Park, lemurs are co-housed with the Tortoise Research Facility, with aldbra giant and radiated tortoises.

Ms Tomkinson said lemurs and tortoises often share the same space.

"(They were) recently introduced to each other, there was a bit of alarm bells and unsure of what they were, but in time they'll get used to them," she said.

"I have seen other zoos which have this configuration and there's lemurs sitting on top of tortoises."

Mass concert blows audience away

By Tara Nash

Some of the best local musicians performed in the biggest band ever assembled in the Strathalbyn Town Hall on Sunday, delivering a powerful performance to about 120 audience members.

More than 50 musicians from Goolwa, Murray Bridge and Strathalbyn & District Concert Bands performed an afternoon of swing, blues, rock, pop and lounge music for the inaugural Mass Bands in Concert.

Strathalbyn & District Concert Band's recently appointed Musical Director, Noel Bowden, conducted the first half of the program, before Murray Bridge bandmaster, Ben Daly, led the second.

Strathalbyn & District Concert Band's

Kathleen Hooker was the event's compere and Goolwa Concert Band's Sharon Harding was the vocalist.

Strathalbyn & District Concert Band Secretary, and one of the event's coordinators, Daryll Telfer, was "very pleased" with the performance which received "such a positive response".

"We had really positive feedback from everyone who attended," he said.

"It was the first time we'd ever done anything like it."

Having more than 50 musicians performing together was a unique opportunity, and the musicians "really enjoyed" the challenge and camaraderie.

"We all had a time which we really appreciated, loved and enjoyed," Mr Telfer said.

"(Performing in a big group), you've got to tone down your volume, otherwise everyone will be blown out of the hall.

"You get good soloists from across the bands taking part and taking leads, it adds a really good colour to it."

Strathalbyn & District Concert Band will be performing at the Remembrance Day service at Milang tomorrow, November 11, and at Christmas Where the Angas Flows next month.

The group's signature event is Strathalbyn Bands Festival, and Murray Bridge Concert Band will hold its inaugural version this March.

Thousands of motorbikes rode through local roads on Sunday, commuting to The Lions Bike Show in Macclesfield for its biggest event in its six years running. About 3000 attended on the sunny, 25-degree day, including Tori Bond and Poppo Kalter (pictured).

All aboard the rescue vessel this summer

By Tara Nash

Milang Marine Search and Rescue Squadron is welcoming new volunteers ahead of its summer season.

The volunteer-run, charity service has been amplifying over the past couple of years, after receiving a state-of-the-art rescue vessel Freemason, funded through a donation by Masonic Charities, and opening of a new boat shed shared with Milang Regatta Club.

The club will now apply for grants and fundraise to install showers and toilets then focus on further raising its profile.

Commodore, Chris Francis, said joining Milang Marine Search and Rescue Squadron is a "great place" and a "good group to be in".

"It's a good way to meet a lot of the local people, it's a good social thing," he said.

"We can save peoples' lives and keep people safe, and I think it's an important thing to join.

"It's a great community group to get involved in."

Current volunteers include a "good mix of young, local lads" with various trades who volunteered their labour for the boat shed's interior.

"When we need to do jobs, they're there and they're great," the local Commodore said.

Mr Francis - who also encourages people to join Milang Regatta Club - said Milang Marine Search and Rescue Squadron currently has 28 volunteers, who can be on-call for emergencies.

Driving or joining a boat crew are just some of the roles available, others include catering, monitoring communication system or helping with events.

As well as rescues, the group gets involved in community events such as Goolwa's upcoming South Australian Wooden Boat Festival.

"If we could get some new people, that would be great," Mr Francis said.

"The more members we've got, the more people involved, the easier it is to attract funding."

Alerts often come from SAPOL, or volunteers see people in trouble on the lake. "Someone could get in trouble out there anytime," Mr Francis said.

"The lake can get very nasty. The wind can be quite treacherous when it picks up."

The Good Life

By Andrew Klynsmith

Much - rightly - has been said in praise of the Queen recently, especially of her life-long fulfilment of a promised dedication to serve the nation and Commonwealth.

She spoke of this service as a duty. Now, this is a word that seems to conjure mixed feelings. One reason is that a duty is obligation, not a choice.

Duty is the sum of all the requirements of any relationship in which we may find ourselves.

You're not really a hero when you do your duty.

Sometimes, when a person has done an act of great bravery, she or he says, 'I only did what was required of me.'

The act was done because the circumstances necessitated it.

What makes such acts seem heroic to us is that we find ourselves too often reluctant to do what is needed.

Fear, self-concern, judgmentalism, even just plain disinterest in the good of another, prevents us doing what we know we should. Failing in duty is often a cause of deep shame.

The word 'duty' seems to carry a sense of burden about it.

Perhaps that sense of burden is only relieved when duty is linked with love.

Love never counts the cost, never measures the possible return. It is strangely dutiful and free at the same time.

The Queen found her inspiration in Jesus Christ. Christians believe in the God who did not count the cost but freely gave all he had for us.

He sent his Son to us in our shame, who took the servant's role and made the sacrifice needed to set things right.

And Christians believe that we can do our duty and love God and all people with free hearts because his love has come to us.

Combined Probus Club welcomes new members

By Tara Nash

Strathalbyn Probus Combined Club is welcoming new members to join its monthly meetings, coffees catch-ups and outings.

Member Jan Pinchbeck said the club of retirees find "fun, friendship and fellowship" with one another.

"We're always after new members," she said.

"It's more for retired men and women to come along and have some fellowship.

"For some members, it's their only outing for the month; they really look forward to it."

Member John Fox enjoys meeting and making friendships, and having fun and camaraderie with others.

"(The club is) entertainment, it's getting people out of their limited accommodation when they're getting older," he said.

Since its inception in 1984, the club has had 31 presidents and started accepting women in 2019.

Today, the club of 40 members meets at Catholic Church Hall on the third Tuesday of each month, from 9.45am to noon.

Meetings include a morning tea, guest speakers and 'show and tell' from one of the members.

Monthly coffee meetings are often held at Jack's High St Cafe & Bakery.

Members join several outings during the year, such as a boat cruise and lunch at Captain Proud Paddle Boat Cruises, Monarto Zoo, Gilbert Motor Museum and Paech's Farm, Wistow.

The club recently celebrated Probus Day with a scenic trip via Murray Bridge and Taillem Bend to Wellington, having lunch at the hotel and visiting Pangarinda Botanic Garden, where volunteers gave members a tour of the native plants and history of the gardens.

The Milang and Strathalbyn Cricket teams met at Milang last Saturday in adverse weather conditions. Milang batted first and put together 78, opener Wellington being responsible for 34. Only other batsman to reach double figures was R.Saltmarsh on 10, with E.Oakley in his first appearance for Strathalbyn taking 8/24. While Threadgold injured himself fielding to take no further part for Strathalbyn, they had little over an hour to get the runs. Opener F.vonDoussa was out early as H.H.Clark came in with the intention of scoring quick runs. He soon had 51 up with four sixers before bowled, as Strath won at 2/81.

UK-based coachman and horse trainer visits Ladies Probus Club

The Ladies Probus Club of Strathalbyn's October meeting was opened by President Carole Carter, who asked all present to sing the Probus song, then introduced Yvonne Dawson as the day's storyteller.

Athalie Martin spoke of her five weeks in Western Australia's south-west, where she and her husband walked up in the trees at Walpole, and had a chance meeting in the Norseman Caravan Park bathroom with a cousin she had not seen for 10 years.

President Carter informed members the club had received publicity in the Active Retirees' Probus News, with an article and photos of the Wellington excursion being published on September 14.

The Members' Chat was delivered by Margaret 'Maggie' Minchin, who had updated her resume since moving from Strathalbyn to living at Littlehampton.

Maggie Minchin was born in New Zealand, where a Catholic lad and a strong Presbyterian lady eloped, producing four children who lived at Fairley.

Maggie trained as a teacher in NZ and made application to teach in the north or south of New South Wales; it was quite a shock when she was sent to Broken Hill.

Maggie married Eric Minchin, who was a landscaper artist despite being red and green colour-blind, and had three daughters.

Eric was a member of the Bushmen of the Bush, but he and Maggie divorced in 1978.

Maggie Minchin has led a varied career over 30 years, and was fortunate during her lifetime to travel extensively, including to London, Los Angeles, Rome, Ireland, Egypt, the Greek Islands, and Paris.

Maggie's now partner Willie Wylie had been her new landlord years before in New Zealand.

They settled in Strathalbyn before downsizing and moving closer to family at Littlehampton during the Past couple of years.

Maggie Minchin concluded by stating she considers she has lived a very fortunate life.

Competition winners for October were Lyn Blackwell, Helen Ford, and Yvonne Tischer.

Coat hangers made by member Marlene Potts were distributed to those who had celebrated birthdays in October.

Birthday honours went to Jan Pfeiffer, Heather Harvey, Doreen Fleming, Marg Rogers, Di Thorpe, and Fay Penniment.

Guest speaker for the day was Gary Docking - a coachman horse trainer who lives in the United Kingdom, but is currently in Australia on a nation-wide carriage driving teaching tour.

Gary has extensive experience in all aspects of equestrian life, including appointments that involved the late Queen Elizabeth II's horses and carriages.

He describes himself as a commentator, raconteur, and entertainer.

Gary Docking was born in Cornwall - a clay mining area - 57 years ago.

Gary attended chorister school and later participated in musical theatre, appearing in the original cast of Les Miserables and other musicals.

Gary enjoys the spoken language, and toured with Gilbert & Sullivan's works.

His other interests include male voice choirs, piano, poems, and hunting on the moors.

Gary has appeared in several films, for which he was paid $15 per hour in those days.

Gary's grandfather was a very erudite man and a rider in teams, so he tried the sport of carriage driving and has been doing it ever since.

UK-based coachman and horse trainer Gary Docking with Cate Goodall and Edith O'Brien at the Ladies Probus Club of Strathalbyn's October meeting.

The late Duke of Edinburgh performed carriage driving at Royal Windsor Park, and when asked why he drove carriages, replied "Why, they're cheap and my wife breeds them!"

Gary Docking attended the late Duke's funeral, as well as that of his wife, the late Queen Elizabeth II.

To conclude his talk, Gary, in his now baritone voice, sang from a sea shanty.

A vote of thanks was delivered together with a gift by member Jane Rowland.

The Ladies Probus Club of Strathalbyn's regular monthly meeting, which is normally held at the Lutheran Hall on November 14, will no longer take place.

In lieu of the meeting, the ladies will be celebrating their birthday with lunch at The Winehouse in Langhorne Creek.

Macclesfield RSL commemorates 80 years

By Giorgina McKay

The community recently came out in droves to help the Macclesfield Returned Services League (RSL) Sub-Branch pause and reflect on its 80 years of history in town, ahead of Remembrance Day.

Established in March 1941, the Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch initially opened its doors to eight World War I veterans from the district who wanted a way to look after the young soldiers heading off to the 'new war' and their families.

The club has significantly expanded in size since that time, welcoming up to 180 members who share the RSL's community-oriented ideals.

"After the second World War, with a lot of returning veterans, it increased in size and it hung around the area of 30 to 40 people for most of its history - (all who) got involved in community projects within the town," Macclesfield RSL President, Dennis Oldenhove, said.

"I think that's been its strongest trait over the years - being community focused - and that's exactly where it's gone back to now.

"It had a bit of a lull in the 80s and 90s, where population declined as the number of, particularly World War II, veterans started to decrease.

"The club got down to about six or eight members again and they were looking to fold, but a couple of us younger veterans moved into the area and were allowed to get involved in the club in such a way that we could put new energy and enthusiasm into it.

"We've now increased the membership to between 160 and 180, so we're stronger than ever."

This is in part due to the club's extensive community engagement over the years.

Mr Oldenhove said the RSL gives back to community and vice versa.

"We reached out to all the local sports clubs, (and) community clubs, and wherever they had activities, we would provide support, then in-kind, when we had activities, they would come support us," he said.

"We've created a store shed full of local assets that different community clubs can come and lean on... it saves them having to go out and buy resources or loan them from council.

"By engaging in all these different groups, when we need a bit of support, it all comes flooding back.

"It helps the fabric of the town because it gets groups and people from different areas of life engaging with each other."

The community's support for the RSL was never more evident than at the club's celebratory dinner for the major milestone on Saturday, October 29, with 120 guests gathering at the Institute Hall to acknowledge its long-standing history in the town.

The Macclesfield Netball Club helped by waitressing, while the football club ran the bar and the Royal Australian Navy Band provided live music.

Mr Oldenhove said it was a "fantastic" evening.

"It was delayed by COVID; we weren't able to do it at the actual time," he said.

"We picked this time, and it was good because it allowed people to be of the mindset where they're ready to come out and enjoy themselves, and break the shackles of COVID restrictions.

"We're now at the end where we've nearly lost the last of our World War II veterans, who were the sole reason for raising the club in the first place.

"We only have two left for our club, and it shows a significant milestone in that where it started (from) to where we are at the moment.

"It's worth pausing and reflecting on how much it does achieve, not only in the past, but now."

The club also took the opportunity to acknowledge several personal milestones on the night, including Robert McNamara who received the RSL League Service Award and 50 Years' Service certificate, Paul Lemar who received Life Membership, and Neil Wright, who was honoured for his outstanding service to the club since its establishment.

"As a seven-year-old boy, (Neil) rode around the district on horseback with his father, who was a World War I veteran, and the two of them rounded up the World War I veterans to raise the sub-branch in 1941," Mr Oldenhove said.

"So, he now volunteers with us, he's our Vice President, and... he represents the heart and soul of the club, given he was there from day one as a seven-year-old to now as an 87-year-old.

"He's still here and passionate about the club, so it was great to recognise his service over that time."

Mr Oldenhove hoped to see the RSL continue to consolidate its membership over the next 80 years, and make improvements to its clubrooms.

"I would like to see the club be able to improve its facilities and clubrooms, so they're brought up to date and (to) modern standards," he said.

"So, we can provide a better and more veteran-specific environment, where people can come and enjoy the services we provide, both in social and welfare, and have a safe space where anybody in the community can come and feel like they're embraced."

Remembrance Day services open to all

STRATHALBYN

A traditional Remembrance Day service will take place at Strathalbyn's War Memorial tomorrow morning.

Strathalbyn Returned Services League (RSL) Sub-Branch Vice President Graham Marshall will conduct the service from 10.45am at the Soldiers Memorial Gardens.

Dignitaries and members of the public will have the opportunity to lay wreaths, and The Last Post will be played at 11am.

Everybody is welcome to attend.

MILANG

Local Eastern Fleurieu students will be among those taking part in tomorrow's Milang Remembrance Day service at Anzac Park.

Commencing from 10.30am, the Milang community will

Those who fought in recent conflicts such as Samoa and Afghanistan will be in attendance, along with EFS students, who will read a couple of lines and lay rocks instead of wreaths.

Milang District Community Association President John Whyte said it was important for students to be involved, so they could better understand the significance of the day.

A barbecue lunch will be held by the Mens Shed at the Institute Hall following the service.

GOOLWA

For the first time, Goolwa Secondary College students will participate in the town's Remembrance Day service.

The Goolwa Returned Services League (RSL) Sub-Branch will hold its traditional commemorative service from 10.45am at the clubrooms, with wreath laying and The Last Post.

Both Goolwa Primary School and Goolwa Secondary College students will be in attendance and participate in a reading.

A barbecue and light refreshments will be available after the service.

Macclesfield RSL in conjunction with the 16 Regiment will hold an open service for families to pay their respects to service men and women past and present.

Revitalising wartime history

By Tara Nash

Just after Clyde Malcolm Allender's 18th birthday in 1939, he joined the Army and was allocated to the Army Service Corps in recently declared war in Europe.

The Goolwa-born man went on to serve all but two weeks of World War 2, joining the Royal Australian Air Force (RAAF) as a pilot and flew a total of 1215 hours.

His story is one of 10 honoured in Macclesfield's ANZAC Memorial Garden's newly updated QR codes displayed around the path.

The project offers a self-guided tour to visitors, who can scan the codes and learn the stories of soldiers, reading their biographies, service records and photos.

Names of other veterans are also inscribed in the brick-path of the garden – managed by Macclesfield RSL – whose stories can be found on the Virtual War Memorial Australia website.

Macclesfield RSL President Dennis Oldenhove expects about 600 bricks and stories in total to be catalogued.

With support from residents and school members, the RSL is years into researching and collaborating information on local veterans, and Mr Oldenhove is expecting a further couple of years yet.

"We all say, 'we'll remember them', but we need to remember what they did, not just who they were, that's why a digital element takes us to another level," he said.

"These people did some amazing things or they led amazing lives; what they did needs to be remembered and honoured.

"Anybody can go onto the website and add their family's photos, add the story about their family member, they might have diaries, they might have photographs in their family's collection; they can put all of that on the website against their relative's name.

"It's a great resource for people wanting to find out about family members but also shares the family members' stories with everybody else and has it recorded and accessible in today's world."

Each soldier linked to a QR code is also associated with a characteristic, such as respect, loyalty, service, mateship, and compassion.

Mr Oldenhove said those traits are role modelled to the younger generation.

"Everyone likes to think we demonstrate the Anzac spirit, (but) most of them don't know what that is... it's made up of all these characteristics," he said.

"We try to encourage young people to find a way to relate to those characteristics and make sure they're perpetuated in society.

"They're qualities that are important and we hope they embrace and continue to keep those characteristics strong in our community.

"If we can promote these characteristics in our young people, it makes us a better country."

Since 2009, veterans and members of the RSL Macclesfield Sub Branch have been developing the garden located near the Macclesfield Oval main entrance.

With donations of time, money and resources by local families, as well as government grants, the space has continually evolved and includes artworks, memorials and walking trails.

Mr Oldenhove said the native and flowering garden offers therapeutic outlet for some and acts as an educational resource.

"It's a good place for people to come and sit, have a safe space and at the same time commemorate the service of local men and women throughout the town's history," he said.

"You sit in the garden and all sorts of birds come around; it's a very peaceful place.

"Veterans find it a good spot to come and chillout and deal with their demons and with their PTSD."

The garden has a strong focus on women, with Mr Oldenhove committed to remembering a range of perspectives of the war.

"Women did so much, they made the planes, they made the ammunition, they were nurses, they were doctors," he said.

"They served in such a variety of roles but they were never put on war memorials."

Macclesfield planting fit for a Queen

By Sara Gilligan

Macclesfield community members put down roots of a special kind on Friday afternoon, taking a leaf out of her late Majesty the Queen's book by planting the first of many trees in the town's centre.

As part of the Australian Government's Planting Trees for the Queen's Jubilee Program, 15 - 20 advanced trees will provide shade at Macclesfield's Davenport Square, with the first planted on Friday, November 4.

The project is a partnership between the Macclesfield Community Association (MCA) and Macclesfield RSL Sub-branch, with $9600 in funding from the Australian Government allowing the community space to grow, aided by Mount Barker District Council's technical advice, support and maintenance.

A group of guests – including Macclesfield Primary School students, Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie, Member for Heysen Josh Teague, Mount Barker District Council Mayor Ann Ferguson, and fellow councillors – last week attended a special planting ceremony.

"This was a grant round that started back in February to commemorate the Queen's platinum Jubilee and 70 years of service to the Commonwealth," Ms Sharkie explained during the event.

"Our late Queen had a love of nature... and I feel particularly poignant in saying we have lost Her Majesty, but her love of the environment never left her.

"It is lovely to see the Macclesfield Community Association successful. We had eight grants across Mayo and Macclesfield Community Association President Penny Worland and Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie plant the first tree at Davenport Square on Friday in honour of late Queen Elizabeth II. all of them were successful, and what I particularly love about these trees is that all of us will get to see them grow and flourish and flower as the years go on."

MCA President Penny Worland told The Southern Argus a community survey revealed a want for more shade and trees at Davenport Square.

"The grant from the Planting Trees for the Queen's Jubilee program provided an opportunity to respond to that community request as well as create a planting that honours Her Majesty's 70 years as Australia's Head of State," she said.

"In the future when the trees are grown, there will be more shade for events, celebrations, performances and other gatherings in Davenport Square.

"The trees will also provide colour through flowers and autumn foliage, adding interest and beauty throughout the year.

"A mix of ornamental, (and) deciduous trees will be chosen with Mount Barker Council's Arborist so that they are suitable for the site conditions and provide seasonal colour."

The remaining trees will be planted at Macclesfield in Autumn 2023.

Meanwhile, other Jubilee program plantings similarly took place across the Fleurieu last week, including at the Port Elliot Community Garden and Sugars Beach.

A SWING AND A HIT:

Come and try croquet

CROQUET CLUB

By Tara Nash

Mount Barker Croquet Club is encouraging new members to come and take a swing at the sport during November.

The historic game is considered one of the oldest sports in the modern world, first played in France around the 11th century, and has been modified over the years.

Croquet is played in pairs, with four in a team which rotate throughout each session, played on lawn, where players hit balls through a series of square hoops.

Keep it simple

By Kristin Sims

Politics and sport

Everywhere you turn at the moment, you can see people saying keep politics out of sport.

A few weeks ago, netball in Australia was at the center of the discussion, thanks to a sponsorship deal that some of the players were uncomfortable with.

The response by the players caused a storm of opinions and the deal was later retracted. Similar things are now happening in soccer with the upcoming FIFA men's world cup held in Qatar.

Players are beginning to speak out against the host country due to the treatment of workers and the LGBTQI+ community.

This has caused an uproar around the world, with people saying politics don't belong in sports.

I personally don't think the argument is quite that simple.

As an everyday worker, if your values don't align with a workplace, you can choose not to work there.

Why should that be any different if you are an athlete?

Shouldn't we all have the chance to feel happy and safe in our workplace?

I also thought if politics shouldn't be in sports, then how do we continue to fund and grow sports?

For an example, funds from various governments are used for hosting Olympic Games or World Cups.

Governments also offer funding grants to many sports, so where would they be without politics? In many communities, local MPs provide sponsorships for teams, this support helps the community to prosper.

In some cases, this money would keep programs alive that would struggle otherwise.

I can also sympathise that in the world we live in, sport can be a great way to switch off from the big issues.

News and politics are in our faces constantly these days and watching some sports can offer us a break.

Seeing an athlete protest on the field can certainly change that for people.

In no way am I saying that either side is right or wrong, but simply that the discussion is full of layers.

Like most debates, there are pros and cons on both sides and we can always learn from considering all information available.

Roeger's golden ticket

By Kristin Sims

Australian Paralympian and Langhorne Creek's own Michael Roeger has been named the local club's number one ticket holder for this year's cricket season.

Roeger competed at the Beijing, London, Rio, and Tokyo Olympic Games in middle distance and marathon events, winning Bronze in Rio and breaking multiple world records across his impressive career.

The homegrown sporting idol played junior and senior cricket with Langhorne Creek along with his brother Chris, from 1999-2006.

In his time at the club, he played 69 games with a highest score of 50 runs.

Roeger is now based in Canberra, but enjoys being able to come back home and spend some time at the club.

"I always try to get back for a few games a year," Roeger told The Southern Argus.

"I think now being the number one ticket holder it is part of my duty to get to as many games of cricket as I can.

"It will give me some extra motivation to get back home to support the great club.

"If I can get down to the nets on a Thursday night and roll the arm over and have a bat that's even better as well."

Roeger looks back fondly on his time at the club and loves coming back to the local area where he grew up.

"It is a really great atmosphere, it is a family fun community club, and I think the community spirit is what attracts so many players and because of the community spirit they have there they welcome everyone with open arms," he added.

"What Trevor Potts and the committee are doing there is really great, I am very proud to be a Langhorne Creek local."

Roeger is also looking forward to helping the club to build on its great reputation in the local community, by helping inspire the next generation that will see Langhorne Creek continue to grow and be successful on the cricket field.

"I just want to instill that anything is possible and try to inspire kids and people along the way," he said.

"I come from Langhorne Creek, but I run on a world stage and I represent this great country.

"If I can show the people there that anything is possible and if you follow your dreams and you find something you are passionate about it won't be hard work."

Even when he is across the other side of the world, Roeger has continued to support the club and keep an eye on how the season is going.

When he signed up for a membership this year, it was a letter from club president Trevor Potts that got him on board as the number one ticket holder and it was an easy decision to take up the role.

"He (Potts) outlined a few things to me and that our values aligned, they (Langhorne Creek) have supported me for a long time and it was nice to get the recognition from the club," he said.

"I was very chuffed about it."

Eastern Falcons Cricket Club

After two weeks without cricket due to rain, the weather gods shone on the Eastern Falcons, as both its sides took to their respective fields, bathed in sunshine on Sunday, November 6.

The Peregrines played against Hope Valley at Hope Valley Oval.

The Peregrines won the toss, electing to bat, with Rebecca Hull and Lisa Mackenzie opening.

After 20 overs, the Peregrines had 5/77; young Sara Rajguru top-scoring, with 10 runs.

Taking to the field, Gracie Lloyd stood out amongst the bowlers, clean bowling both of Hope Valley's opening batters.

Two successful run-out efforts were completed by combinations of Mackenzie/Rajguru and April Strevens/Lloyd.

The Peregrines were able to keep Hope Valley's batting score low enough to take home a five-run win.

The Kestrels hosted Port Adelaide/Woodville South at Strathalbyn Oval.

Port Adelaide/Woodville South won the toss and chose to bat.

Kestrels' Vice-Captain Holly Paech took two wickets, and Dani Brown took her first ever wicket after the batter was caught by first-gamer Michelle Coulter.

The Kestrels held the undermanned Port Adelaide/Woodville South to just 5/44 in its 20 overs before heading in to bat.

Brown and Strathalbyn fill-in Emily Roberts opened the batting, and stayed at the crease to build a partnership, which overcame the opposition.

The Kestrels won in 6.2 overs.

This Sunday, November 13, the Kestrels host Hope Valley at Strathalbyn Oval, while the Peregrines travel to Duncan Fraser Reserve to face Gepps Cross.

By Eye of the Tiger

Round 5 is done and dusted and the A Grade took care of the second-placed Strathalbyn Stallions by eight wickets at home.

Brodie O'Dea has the team humming along with five wins on the trot.

Some big games coming up with Woodside at Woodside this week with most of the team heading along to Handpicked to drink cruisers and a touch of Lake Breeze Bernoota.

Unless Dan "Duster" Kropp can start converting his 30s and 40s with the bat into centuries, the A Grade could be under pressure. Dan could even get the new ball yet with Trevor Potts.

B Grade skipper, Jayden Michelmore has a spring in his step down at Tolderol, with the B Grade also undefeated.

Dale Chandler continues to thrive in his comeback with the Tigers after a stint at the Frillnecks a few years ago, taking 3 wickets and scoring 39 at the top of the order.

James Shea has also convinced Jayden to give him the new rock each week and he is delivering with early wickets.

Not since the days of Collin Leibhardt, Andrew Cooper, Ian Rothe and "Spess" Wenzel in the mid 90s has the team looked this solid.

Jarrod Cock and the Tonkin clan knocked over Woodside at Milang with Wood-side featuring some Double Blues and Victor Harbor legend Peter Reid (drafted to Essendon in 1986) and Milang Homegrown Paralympian Michael Roeger has been named Langhorne Creek Cricket Club's number one ticket holder.

Over 50s nationals cricket coming to Strathalbyn

By Kristin Sims

Strathalbyn cricket club will host two games in the over 50s national cricket championships being held in Adelaide later this month.

After being postponed due to COVID, the competition is poised for a big return.

The first match will be held on the last day of regular competition Wednesday, November 23 where South Australia will take on New South Wales in division two.

Following on the next day will be a playoff for third spot in division one.

With the over 50s competition thriving, the national championships are a big event on the cricketing calendar.

The local club is using the opportunity to promote its oval and its facilities to a wider audience.

"We are proud of our facilities and want to showcase them where we can, a bit of promotion for the club more than anything is the main goal," Club President Michael Cutting told The Southern Argus.

Like all local clubs being run by volunteers, hosting the games midweek will present some challenges, but Cutting said getting the opportunity to raise some extra money is important for the club.

"As proud as we are of the facilities the reality is it takes a lot of time and money each season to maintain it to the standard that it is," he added.

"So, any opportunities to raise a bit of money through games such as these national championships is a good opportunity for us".

in the 15th over for a short, sharp game which suits the D Grade beautifully.

In other news, two former Tigers headed to New York City this week, Darcy and Paul Clifford for the New York marathon.

A great effort by the father son combination to knock it over in three hours and 48 minutes.

It was particularly good by Darcy who struggles to run anywhere near an opponent on the football field which is a lot less than 42km!

Our past players and sponsors day is on November 19, 2022, with the A Grade up against Hahndorf at home, it would be great to see as many former Tigers as we can.

See you at the cricket.

Stable Snippets – Strathalbyn Cricket Club

A mixed bag of results last weekend, but it was great to see the Fillies finally get their season under way with a win at home over Aldgate.

It is expected to be an interesting week at the selection table, with Handpicked at Langhorne Creek to impact on the availability of a number of players.

A Grade

The A Grade made the short trip down the road for the local derby against the in-form Tigers and after batting first they lost Harris early with the score on 25.

Luke Cousins looked to be in good touch again before he was unfortunately run out but with the score at 2/70 at drinks the Stallions had worked themselves into reasonable position. Unfortunately, the acceleration that was needed in the back half of the innings didn't eventuate, with tight bowling from the home side seeing the visitors finish at 5/155 from their allotted 45 overs which appeared a little under par.

Cousins with 45, Matt Abbott with a run a ball 31 and Mark Abbott with 29 were the best performers with the bat.

In reply skipper Gaiter made the crucial early breakthrough removing the dangerous O'Dea with the score on 21, however, Dawson and Kropp then consolidated the innings adding 50 runs for the 2nd wicket and batting the Tigers into a strong position.

Matty Roberts dismissed Kropp with the score on 71 however Dawson was well set and he and Warren were able to see the home side through to a comfortable victory in the 40th over.

This week the Stallions head up to Hahndorf to tackle the Magpies.

Strath 5/155 (L Cousins 45, Matt Abbott 31*, Mark Abbott 29, M Roberts 21*) def. by L/Creek 2/156 (M Roberts 1/24, B Gaiter 1/37).

A2 Grade

Last Saturday at home skipper Hillam again called correctly and elected to bat first and he and fellow opener Lane made another solid start getting the score to 61 before Hillam went in the 13th over.

Lane and Brook then saw things through to drinks, with the Stallions in a good position at 1/78 after 20 overs and having a good foundation to build from.

After Brook was dismissed Harding and Lane combined to add 41 for the 3rd wicket before a mix up saw Harding run out.

From here much of the early inning's momentum was lost, with Lane enjoying the return to the lightning fast Strathalbyn outfield, being the mainstay of the innings with a fine 81 and seeing the Stallions to 9/154 after their 40 overs.

In defence of the total Hillam grabbed the first 3 wickets which had the Miners on the back foot early at 3/44 after 10 overs.

Dave Kettlestring and Hayden Pocock then steadied the innings which saw the visitors go to drinks at 3/80 and looting to be well placed needing just over 3 runs per over to reel in the target.

However, shortly after drinks the matched changed complexion with a returning Billington having Kettlestring nicking off to keeper Hillam which triggered a massive batting collapse. 4/87 was quickly 8/89 with Beaumont and Tim Smith causing havoc with stump-to-stump bowling and disturbing the woodwork on 5 occasions and the Miners were eventually dismissed for 95 on the final ball of the 31st over. Smith with the exceptional figures of 4/3 from 4 overs.

Strath 9/154 (R Lane 81, T Hillam 32) def. Echunga 95 (Tim Smith 4/3, T Hillam 3/34, S Beaumont 2/10).

The A2s have another home game this week hosting Hahndorf on the turf at the main oval.

C Grade

The C Grade headed to EFS for the first time this season with Woodside Red the opposition with captain Brook winning the toss and choosing to bat first.

He and Gane added 26 before the latter was first to go. Brook went two runs later before Harvey and Beerenfels added 65 for the 3rd wicket before Harvey went in the 19th over. Beerenfels continued to push bringing up his half century before being dismissed for a well-made 60 which allowed the Stallions to post 8/181 from their 35 overs.

In reply, Woodside opener Vickers seemingly had somewhere to be, blasting a quick-fire 35 before Barnett had the final say combining with Jye Stevenson to remove the danger man in the 4th over with the score on 37.

While a few other partnerships threatened to form, the Stallions were able to keep taking wickets when needed with Beerenfels bowling tightly and Harvey spinning out two of the Warrior batsman.

At 7/106 after 27 overs the home side looked to be in control, however, some lower order hitting pushed the total up to 8/168 leaving the Stallions with a 13-run win.

Both Beerenfels and Harvey having fine all-round matches finishing with 2/21 from 7 overs, and 2/23 from 6 overs respectively. Youngster Jye Stevenson bowling 5 very tight overs to finish with 1/7.

This week the C Grade host Ashbourne at EFS Senior School.

Strath 8/181 (J Beerenfels 60, R Harvey 32, N Brook 21, C Barnett 19) def. Woodside Red 8/168 (J Beerenfels 2/21, R Harvey 2/23).

U16 Boys

The U16s headed up to the Summit Sport & Recreation Park in pursuit of Mount Barker's imposing total of 4/187 posted on Day 1.

Some very tight bowling early on had runs at a premium and eventually the pressure told with the score being reduced to 5/39 after drinks.

Stevenson, Sam Tonkin and Bullivant dug in post drinks which saw 34 runs added which steadied the innings but despite almost seeing out the allotted 40 overs the visitors were eventually dismissed for 86 in the final over of the innings.

Jye Stevenson, Ethan Bullivant and Sam Tonkin working hard against some tight bowling from the Kookaburras.

A few things for the lads to focus on this week at training before they tackle Nairne at Langhorne Creek this weekend.

Strath 86 (E Bullivant 12, J Stevenson 12, S Tonkin 11) def. by Mt Barker 4/187.

16&U Girls

The Fillies started their season in fine fashion with a solid win over Aldgate at home last Sunday morning. After posting 93 the Fillies restricted Aldgate to 6/65 to record a 28-run victory.

Emerging young player Ava Foote showing the benefits of her recent time at the U15 SACA Pathway Academy with a fine all-round match, while Matilda Edmonds chimed in with 2 important wickets.

Fillies 93 (A Foote 24, G Smith 11, P Martin 8*) def. Aldgate 6/65 (A Foote 3/5, M Edmonds 2/11, K Donaldson 1/11).

U14

After posting 7/188 on Day 1 the young Stallions bowled extremely well to dismiss Wistow for 61 in the 19th over.

Tyrian Cousins getting a wicket in the first over of the morning with brother Elisha Thiele joining in soon after.

When captain Thomas Heinrich dismissed the danger man Lynn with the first ball of his spell the wickets then fell at regular intervals. Heinrich, Ben Greaves and Max Wiese all bowling great spells to finish with 2 wickets each.

The remaining overs in the day were split and in the search of quick runs the Stallions lost a number of wickets followed by some hard hitting by Wistow in the 2nd innings but still finished with a solid win on first innings.

The U14s head to Nairne for their next match this weekend.

Strath 7/188 (A Wheaton 53*, M Wiese 25, T Heinrich 21) & 5/34 (J Williamson 23) def. Wistow 61 (M Wiese 2/2, B Greaves 2/4, T Hienrich 2/6) & 3/80 (M Wiese 2/6).

The Fillies stop-start season will continue, having the bye this week.

U12

Due to the EFS Gala Night the U12s were unable to make the trip to Lobethal last Friday evening. After the first 3 weeks away from home the boys finally return to the Strath turf this Friday evening.

U10

The U10s had the bye last Friday evening and will return to action this week when they make the trip to Nairne.

Sun finally shines on greens

Warm weather finally arrived last Saturday and greeted players in the GSBA Open Gender pennants. In division one McLaren Vale, Goolwa Black, Encounter Bay, Port Elliott easily defeated their opponents, while Goolwa White had a surprise win over Clarendon by four shots.

Goolwa Black sits on top of the Div. One table closely followed by McLaren Vale.

Last season's grand final winner Willunga after five rounds have slipped to eighth.

Still early in the season, but bottom teams Victor Harbor and Goolwa White will need to find some winning ability to improve their position.

Division Two both Victor Harbor Blue and Encounter Bay Blue are undefeated with no losses, however, the SeaEagles are 4 points ahead of the Bays, they play each other this coming Saturday. Good luck to both teams.

Division Three only 3 points separate Strathalbyn, Clarendon and Yankalilla, each having won four games and losing one.

After five pennant rounds other undefeated teams include Goolwa and Encounter Bay Blue in Div. Four and Encounter Bay and Victor Harbor in Div. Six.

Women's Thursday pennants after four rounds division one teams Yankalilla, Port Elliot and Victor Harbor all have three wins and one loss with 5 points separating the three teams. Division Two undefeated clubs Port Elliot and Milang play each other this Thursday at Milang.

Open Gender Division One games this Saturday are expected to be close, except one:

Strathalbyn home to Clarendon, Strath just ahead at the end of the game.

Willunga home to Port Elliott, home side advantage, Willunga to win.

Encounter Bay home to Goolwa White, Goolwa is unpredictable at this time, Bays to win.

Yankalilla home to Goolwa Black, certainly a home green advantage, Yankalilla in a surprise win.

Victor Harbor home to McLaren Vale, SeaEagles need to improve, however the Crushers will be too strong and win.

Three out of four again for Creek Hawks

Shane Rothe getting some advice how to play his next shot from daughter Evelyn.

Well, the girls, plus Graham started the ball rolling on Thursday when they hosted a team from Victor Harbor.

The green was a little heavy after the recent rain, but Di's rink was off to a flying start to establish a very handy lead.

They continued to play well and won convincingly.

On the next-door rink, Jo's team were playing catch-up bowls and unable to get on top of opposition.

So, 8 valuable points for the Thursday team.

Saturday saw the Div 2s down at Goolwa, where we often struggle to get the right line and length, but not on Saturday!

Shaun and his boys were having a day out to be well in front at smoko, but the break did not work in their favour, as the opposition slowly came back at them, but they stayed strong and got up by 4 shots.

Justin's boys were having a real battle, managing to be in front most of the game, but a dull patch, when they did not score for 5 ends allowed Goolwa back into the game.

Five shots on next end got Creek

Hawks in front again, but sadly they lost the last two ends to go down by one shot.

Meanwhile, Wayne's warriors were doing battle with the 'stick' team and fortunately a six on end nine got them well ahead.

I have not heard much news from the old ex dairy farmers in the team say that the cream always rises to the top and it did on Saturday, scores level on last end and all of the Creek Hawks team members put in shots to get a five, so a good win for the old buffers.

I did not hear much news from the Div 4s and Div 6s, but was pleased to hear that Div 4s had a win a draw and a loss, to give them nine valuable points at Victor Harbor.

It is pleasing to see our teams doing well at away games.

Sadly, the Div 6 went down to a stronger side from Milang.

Our Night Owl competition got going last Thursday and in turned out to be a great evening.

Half price drinks and teas were served prior to match and this was very well supported by players, so we hope this continues for weeks to come.

Milang Bowling Club

Big three for Milang bowlers

Three wins on Saturday. What a good day!
Div 3 playing at Milang against Port Elliot won 2 of 3 rinks, with a total of 73 - 59.
Greg's Rink won by 7 shots and Kevin's by 9, which was a good margin. Unfortunately, Lee's team were 2 shots behind, but overall, it was enough points to put them above their opponents on the ladder, after getting 10 points.

Once again Div 6 Blue had a victory.

At McLaren Vale Peter's rink scored 40 to 10 to easily claim rink of the week.
Heather's team were 24 - 11, also a big margin. Gaining 10 points again this week, it's a good start to the season.

Div. 6 White returned from Langhorne Creek, victorious for the first time. Well done, considering the teams were not complete until a new recruit was registered. Bev's team scored 22 - 11 and Pam's 21 - 17 both very good results. This boosted their position on the chart at last! Another 10 points.
On Thursday, the ladies team (with a few men) also gained 10 points.

Against Myponga, Lee's strong team had the best score of 24-11 to gain rink of the week, closely followed by Heather's with 26 - 15.
Jane's team played against a very good opposition and trailed by 10 shots. Overall, 10 points again!
With warmer weather this week, hopefully bowling conditions will improve.

Cadell triumphs at Goolwa Primary's 50th Sports Day

By Giorgina McKay

A sea of red, yellow and green decorated Goolwa Primary School's oval last Thursday for the highly anticipated, annual Sports Day activities.

The important yearly event embodies many of the school's ideas about activity, good health, and 'having a go' that teachers include in their daily Physical Education (PE) curriculum.

This year marked the school's 50th Sports Day, making the event even more special for students, staff, and families.

The day kicked off with an official opening and Welcome to Country at the basketball courts, followed by a health hustle and team cheers.

The wind and wet weather held off for the afternoon to allow the Junior Primary students to enjoy a variety of events, including ball pass, end-to-end relays, corner spry, tug-of-war, shuttle, tunnel ball, leaky bucket, soccer dribble, hockey, long throw, water balance, middle distance, spoke relay, vortex, long jump, accuracy throw, and year level sprint championships.

However, it was Cadell who came out on top this year, taking home the Sports Day Shield, while Hindmarsh came away with the Sportsmanship Shield.

Winners of the Best Dressed Parents went to Elsie's mum Jo, and Zac's mum Rose.

The school enjoyed sharing the special day with students and families.

"A huge thanks to all parents and family members who joined us for the day," the school wrote on its Facebook page.

"Thank you to all staff members who put in a massive effort to put on such a smooth-running and fun day for the children.

"Lastly, thank you to the children – there were so many compliments shared about their behaviour and good sportsmanship.

"Our house leaders gave fantastic speeches at the end of the day and were shining lights, showcasing what it means to be a student at Goolwa Primary – be kind, be responsible, be respectful, and try your best.

John Wesley Tennis Club

It was a busy day at John Wesley's oval courts on Saturday, with three matches being hosted.

The weather was near-perfect for a top of the table clash in Div 2, a repeat of last season's Doubles preliminary final, and second and third placed rivals in OTA.

In the Div. 2 match the doubles matches were tight affairs with most games going to deuce.

Only a couple of service breaks separated the pairings in the two matches.

In the end, last season's premiers, Crafers prevailed in both rubbers. Into the singles, the home team needed to mount a comeback.

Tom Gevers at No.3 started the ball rolling with a comfortable 9-3 victory, but that's where the comeback finished.

Although two of the three remaining singles went down to the wire, Matt Bates and Daniel Cross both losing 7-9, but Tash Abbott losing 3-9. Final score: John Wesley 1-1-39 lost to Crafers 5-7-54.

Other matches: Uraidler 5-7-52 Def Strathalbyn 1-1-34

In the Doubles comp, John Wesley needed a lift to match it with last season's grand finalist, Summertown, so they bolstered their team with a handy fill-in player.

This surprise tactic paid dividends from the start, winning two of the first three matches to hold a slight lead, which they held on to right to the end, when Geoff Hall and Danny Reynolds held their nerve to record a solid win in the last match, and claim the well-deserved team win in the end.

The OTA match between John Wesley and neighbouring town Woodchester began evenly, splitting the first doubles, the girls winning for John Wesley, and the fellas winning for Woody.

On to the singles, where Woody gained the advantage at the top of the order in the men winning three of the four sets.

But Wesley bounced back in the Ladies, winning the bottom three sets. All even going into the mixed doubles with the points on the line.

Rhys Paech and Maddi Gevers gave Wesley a great start with a 6-1 win over Mark Sappenberghs and Lilly Harvey. This advantage could prove vital in securing victory.

Matt Binder and Mel Cross just went down in a tiebreaker, and the other two doubles were split, so the result came down to games, with John Wesley holding on, 8-82 to Woodchester's 8-69.

Best matches: Rhys Paech lost to Mark Sappenberghs 5-7

A big scare for Goolwa

The Linesmans View

The warm weather arrived for Great Southern Tennis and with it came more close results, with none closer than Normanville almost pulling off the upset of the season losing narrowly to Goolwa. Looking at both team's results, Goolwa would have been expected to win comfortably but missing key players in Paul Roberts and Trav Roach they used a 'get out of gaol' free card to win by 1 game. Goolwa's ladies of Mel Ramsey and Kaylene Brook carried the team having big wins in all their matches that was a major factor in the win.

For Normanville Matt Costin showed that he's arrived with great singles victory over Mike Howard and backed up by Keni Lewis Baida they almost pinched victory.

There would be some sore bodies from the Inman Valley Pt Elliot match which saw Inman Valley win 4 rubbers to 2.

The fact that Pt Elliot were only 2 games poorer at the end showed how tight this contest was.

All but one set was decided by a single break of serve or less across the whole afternoon.

Inman's Dave Giltinan and Paul

Martin won an epic doubles match which finished in an 14-12 super tiebreak and then both proceeded to have long matches with Giltinan winning in a tiebreak.

The Pt Elliot ladies of Zara Bowles and Julianne Lowrey were also up for the fight winning their doubles and Lowrey winning her singles.

Myponga-Sellicks made quick work of Back Valley winning 5 rubbers to 1 at Myponga.

The visitors had no answers to the home side with strong wins for Jack Pacitti, Courtney Gum and Amy Veron in singles as well as winning both doubles to remain undefeated.

For Back Valley Luke Modra made sure the team didn't leave empty-handed, but it is clear they know where the level is, to be a finals aspirant and they have time to get there.

Next week's Round 5 matches could be under some threat, with potential showers forecasted for Saturday, but weather forecasts have been incorrect before.

Pt Elliot host Normanville and the visitors will have taken some confidence from their last start but Pt Elliot won't allow Normanville an easy win.

They've showed some good fighting qualities the last two weeks against very tough opposition which suggests at this early stage they are right to think they're worthy of playing finals.

Both their men and ladies are in good form and the matchups in the men will be great contests. Normanville know they have to continue to improve their standing in the ladies component to have a strong chance of winning but Pt Elliot should be too strong this Saturday.

Inman Valley head to Myponga-Sellicks to be the home side's next challenger to topple the top side. Both teams have a chance of winning but Myponga-Sellicks are playing well, beating teams they're expected to beat and individually, they are all playing well.

The ladies match up of Myponga-Sellicks's Gum versus Inman's Bree

Leibhardt is probably the match of the round but Inman's chance lay in the doubles.

Myponga-Sellicks men have lost only 1 double against the experience pair of Roach and Howard from Goolwa and experience is what the Inman men have.

If Inman can play smart and have the doubles played on their terms then come singles, it's anyone's chance but Myponga-Sellicks must start favourites.

Back Valley host Goolwa as Goolwa continue to scrounge and fight their way to close victories while Back Valley are trying to find the consistency to be competitive week in week out.

Back Valley's ladies could be their strength this weekend and they'll need everything to go right for their team to win.

If Goolwa's men are at full strength, it could be a long afternoon for the hosts and I expect Goolwa to win comfortably to remain entrenched in the top 3 of the ladder.

The innings was highlighted by a K2 to H Sexton, which then combined with catcher L Bladanat to tag a Hahndorf runner trying to steal home just as Hahndorf looked like they were about to get a run on.

Back in the field, Hahndorf's pitcher B Luxon started strongly, with a K2 before H Sexton hit a great ball to right field to get himself safely to first.

Just as Redsox looked like they were starting to rally, Sophie Flynn at second base fielded the next ball and threw to Isabella Johns at first to get the next out, before B Luxon again combined with M Biddle to close out innings with a K2, not allowing Redsox to score.

Sienna Golder then came into pitch for Redsox when Hahndorf came out to bat and pitched well, taking a lot of batters deep into the count, but Hahndorf were able to get runners on base and score 7 runs of their own.

When Redsox came into bat, they started well, with safe hits to centre field by S Golder, and left field by L Bladanat and H Sexton to get runners into scoring position, before Hahndorf's pitcher H Bunn fought back, combing with catcher Thomas Johns to close out the innings with three K2s.

Then Alecia Spinks at first base and Jess Rumble at third both took catches to make the three outs and send Hahndorf to the bench.

NFA Pirates (4) def Redsox (3)

In what was beautiful day for softball, the NFA Pirates opposed the Redsox for the first time this year in one of the closest games of the season.

A strong bounce back by young pitcher Sienna Goldner who tallied three Ks limited the Pirates to a 4-3 lead.

Pirates secured the win with a scoreless frame.

Demons' pitcher Hayley Brown settled and pitched several strikes, but the Redbacks batted confidently, and a safe hit to right field by Taylor Coombe got Pedersen across the plate for the Redbacks' first run.

Second batter Meagan Plummer-Bahr also scored when Anna Lions' hit to short stop resulted in a wild throw to first base.

Tania Nethercote advanced to first on a walk, and with the bases loaded, Brown dug deep and struck out the next batter.

Nikita Masters was thrown out at first base, but got Coombe across the plate for another run.

In her second at bat for the dig, Pederson sent a safe hit to centre field, getting Lions across the plate for the fifth run.

Plummer-Bahr was thrown out at first to end the dig, with the Redbacks leading 5-0.

Jasmine Hartmann opened the batting for the Demons, and made it safely to first base from a fielding error.

The second batter made first on a walk, then Brown was thrown out at first by Redbacks' third-baser Nethercote.

Next batter made first on a walk for loaded bases.

A safe hit to left field by Jodie Karayiannis got Hartmann and Jess Tilley home for the Demons' first 2 runs.

The next batter was thrown out at first, and the Demons had two batters out and were 3 runs down.

The Demons kept batting aggressively, and a succession of safe hits on loaded bases increased the score to 10 runs, and automatically ended their dig.

The Redbacks started their second dig with a big hit to centre field by Coombe, but were held scoreless by tight infielding.

Kiara McInnes opened the batting for the Demons' second dig, and got to first base on a fielding error.

The Redbacks fought hard, with clean infielding and Pederson tempting the Demons' batters into swinging strikes.

Demons' players Hartmann, Tilley, McInnes, Lilly Byfield, and Crystal Karayiannis aggressively stole bases, so were in position to score runs on walks and safe hits.

The second 10-run dig sealed the win for Echunga, 20 runs to 6.

Hahndorf (13) def Macclesfield (6)

Hahndorf batted first and loaded up the bases, but Maccy's short stop Elsbeth Lions worked well with Lisa Lions to get Hahndorf's lead runners out twice at third.

Jess Pilkington pitched well to Alisha Golding to strike-out Danielle Vujic.

Maccy scored a run at the bottom of the first, with Golding coming home off a safe hit by E Lions.

Hahndorf kept it tight in the field, with both Kirsty Hailstone at third and Emma Jarvis at short stops fielding well, and getting the ball to Vujic at first for outs, then worked together to pick off the lead runner at third.

Hahndorf came out firing at the top of the second, scoring 6 runs, with safe outfield hits to Jackie Pocock, Kerryn Liebelt, Nancy Johns, and Hailstone.

Pilkington fought back, striking it; Gemma Langford and short stop E Lions again picked off the lead runner at third.

Hahndorf backed up their strong batting in field, not allowing Maccy to score, with J Langford and Tracy Luxon taking great outfield catches.

Hahndorf scored another 7 runs at the top of the third, as new Maccy pitcher E Lions struggled a bit to hit the glove.

Pilkington, now at short stop, took a great catch running backwards, as did Annabel Lions at centre field.

Maccy then scored 6 runs, with strong outfield hits to centre field by Pilkington, A Lions, and Caitlin Christian.

Hailstone took a sharp catch at short stop and Liebelt, who worked hard on the strip for Hahndorf all game, was rewarded with a strike-out for the third out, which stopped Maccy's run.

Hahndorf went out to bat again, and young J Langford got a great outfield hit to left field, but time was called and Hahndorf ran out winners, 13 to 6.

NFA Prates (15) def Echunga (3)

On Saturday we finally got a taste of some proper spring weather on the diamond, as the NFA Pirates Yellow team took on the Echunga Demons.

The Pirates took the field first, with Jordarna Wilks pitching to Wendy Pope behind the plate.

Echunga's Crystal Karayianis lead the Demons off with the bat.

The Pirates tight fielding and a strike-out retired the Demons, only conceding 1 run for the innings.

The Pirates then took to the bat, with Taminka Wilks leading off and showing patience in the batting box against the pitching of Eliza Lovelock, receiving a walk to first, bringing Jenny Pearce to the plate.

Jenny was not keen in hanging around, hitting the first pitch to right field for a single.

The Pirates applied pressure, with both Taminka, Jenny, and the next two batters Wendy Pope and Alison Lomman making home before the Demons got their first out, with Jarrah Taylor being caught up in a force play at home.

The Pirates put on another 4 runs on the board before closing the innings out, with Wendy Pope hitting a pop fly back to the pitcher.

Jordarna and Wendy picked up where they started off by striking out Echunga's first batter in three straight pitches.

Jodie Karayiannis tried to lift the Demons, with a cracking hit to left field for a single base hit, however, the Pirates stopped the Demons in their tracks, with the next two batters retiring to the bench, with a strike-out and a throw out at first leaving Jodie stranded on base.

The Pirates started the batting, with Alison and Jarrah both getting on base with walks before Jordarna put the ball into play to load up the bases.

The Demons made a pitching change, bringing in Jodie Karayiannis, but with a bit of patience and picking the right pitch, Kathryn Butler hit the ball to centre field to bring home both Alison and Jarrah to score.

Echunga tightened up their fielding, with outs through force plays to Jordarna, Kathryn, and Michelle Stewart to close out the innings.

Echunga's Crystal Karayiannis was back up at the plate to start the third inning, again having a great battle with the pitcher, seeing six pitches fouling four times before popping the ball up to be caught by Pirates' Wendy Pope.

The Pirates continued their tight fielding, with Tilley Lovelock being thrown out at first by Pirates' second-baser Jenny Pearce.

Bree Elliott was Echunga's only run for the innings after Chris Waruryk was thrown out at first by Jarrah Taylor to bring the Demons back in to the field.

The Pirates looked to continue the momentum with the bat, with leadoff Taminka Wilks getting on base with a walk.

The Pirates didn't trouble the scoreboard too much, with only Taminka crossing the plate before some tight fielding by Echunga got three outs, capitalising on a couple of force plays and pop fly to short stop Crystal Karayiannis.

The Pirates only allowed four batters to step up to the plate when they returned to the field, with Jordarna racking up her fourth strike-out for the game, and catches to Jarrah Taylor at short stop and Jenny Pearce at second base.

Echunga came out and showed they can do it better, with a three up, three down, and the final out being Taminka hitting a fly ball to Echunga's centre-fielder Kiara McInnes.

A re-energised Echunga looked to capitalise on their momentum from the field with the bat, with their leadoff batter Crystal getting around the diamond to cross home plate.

The Pirates settled and shut down any other opportunity to score, with the next two batters being thrown out at first with throws from Jenny Pearce and Jordarna Wilks, and a catch to short stop Jarrah Taylor to bring the Pirates into bat.

The Pirates regrouped and refocused to put another 4 runs on the board, with Jenny, Wendy, Alison, and Jarrah all crossing the plate before Jordarna was thrown out at third base by a force play.

Some quick thinking from the Echunga after an infield fly was called on a pop fly by Sue Stewart, caught Kathryn Butler short from tagging up at second after the catch.

The Pirates returned to the field to hold Echunga scoreless, with Taminka Wilks catching Chris Waruryk short of making first base, with a throw from third.

Jenny Pearce caught Lilly Byfield in a force play to second, and Sue Stewart finished the innings and game with a play to her own base at first.

With a game played in good spirits by both teams, the Pirates came away victorious, with a 15 to 3 win.

Heats' next turn at bat dropped away slightly, with Norris' good pitching keeping the batters guessing, holding them to no runs accounted.

Panthers batted again, with safe hits to Ashlee Peterson, Jarrah Taylor, Norris, and Kathryn Milne providing highlights, but Heats' calm composure and experience also held them scoreless.

In Masters' third batting dig, they faced a new pitcher-catcher combo of Jordarna Wilks to Taminka Wilks, who were playing in their first A Grade game and produced a K2.

An out was made at second, and the final out was a great field-and-throw by Taylor at third to Norris now at first, which held them to 2 runs.

Mt Barker Redsox (3) def Hahndorf (0)

The Mount Barker Redsox v Hahndorf Magpies clash was set to be a solid game, with two of the best pitchers in the state, Jarryd Farrell and Laurie Peters, going head-to-head.

Peters for the Magpies got on top early, striking out two of the Redsox's four batters, with the only exceptions being Williams with a walk and Moyle put out at first.

Redsox's pitcher Jarryd Farrell made short work of the Hahndorf batting line-up, putting out Pete Fairley at first, then striking out the next two batters.

The Redsox second turn at bat was a little better from the middle order, with Karayiannis hitting a single to centre field, L Lucas taking a walk, as well as Fabian and Williams, giving the Redsox the first run of the game.

Lucas scored the second run on a pass ball before Peters pulled back the reins and retired the top order.

Farrell kept things tight in the second, with only four batters coming to the plate.

The third and fourth inning quickly came and went, with Peters and Farrell doing what they do best.

The Redsox scored their third run in the fifth, with Peterson hitting a double to left field, then a single from Farrell bringing in Peterson.

Peters responded by retiring batters five, six and seven.

The sixth inning saw Olsson retire, with a K2, and Pete Fairley taking a walk to first base, putting the Magpies in a good position to put a run on the board.

Flynn Langford made good contact with the bat, punching the ball to second.

Sharp fielding by Peterson saw him tag Fairley on his way to second, then put out Langford at first, ending the inning with a double play.

Peters and Farrell cleaned house in the seventh inning, with no further change to the score.

Final score was Mount Barker Redsox 3, Hahndorf 0.

Division 2 Mens

Macclesfield Red (13) def Redsox (8)

Macclesfield Red took on Redsox on Saturday afternoon, with both sides showing different line-ups to those of previous encounters.

Maccy started with the bat first, scoring 3 runs, as Matthew Schapel led off and was brought home via scoring hits from Dale Martin and Sam Williams.

Redsox's pitcher Aaron Golder toiled hard to keep damage to a minimum.

Maccy recorded two quick outs in their first innings of defence until Justin Baker hit a double to centre field.

Offence was short-lived when Keith Goodman flew out to right field, and the side retired.

A change of pitcher for Redsox paid immediate dividends, as Goodman troubled the Maccy side, and ended the frame with no runs scored.

Redsox then showed signs of life in the second when Golder hit a long, deep home run, and put his side on the board.

Redsox added another 2 courtesy of Anu Sharma and Riley Karayiannis.

The Reds' army sprang into action in the third innings, piling on the maximum 10 runs, as patient batting combined with towering hits to Luke Andrews, Alex Eglitis, Dan McConville, and the white-hot Williams blew the door open and set the challenge to Redsox.

As the game neared its final stages, Baker hit a shot that, as of Sunday afternoon, had still not landed, and with the support of Golder and the lower batting order, tacked on 5 runs, adding respectability to a once lopsided scoreboard.

Williams was awarded Best on Ground for his batting game, and was ably supported by Eglitis and Martin.

For Redsox, Baker was superb, and Golder was also noticed for his batting.

Maccy held on in the end to score a much-needed 13-8 victory.

Division 1 Mens

Pirates (11) def Macclesfield (7)

Pirates and Macclesfield both went into their A Grade Mens clash with somewhat depleted line-ups.

But Pirates were able to get off to a great start in the top of the first inning against the pitching of Mark Cherry by scoring 2 runs thanks to safe hits from Cooper Goodman and Peter Atkinson.

Brett Atkinson started well on the stripe for Pirates in the bottom of the first inning by holding Macclesfield to 1 run.

Cherry started to find his groove in the top of the second inning, and was able to restrict the scoring to 1 run through some crafty pitching.

The Macclesfield bats came alive in the bottom of the second inning mainly thanks to a superb home run from Aaron Pearce who was ably supported, with safe hits to Cherry, Jarome Vernocchi, Luke Andrews, and a home run to Sean O'Loughlin, which saw 5 runs scored to give Macclesfield a 6-2 lead after two completed innings.

Pirates were able to respond in the top of the third inning, and disciplined hitting plus safe hits to Mitchell Butler (two for the inning), Josh Goodman (two for the inning), and Robert Pearce saw Pirates score 9 runs for the inning, and put Macclesfield on the back foot.

Two quick outs gave Pirates hope in the bottom of the third inning, but Jarome Vernocchi continued his excellent outing with the bat by recording his third safe hit of the game.

He was scored on a safe hit from Sam Flinn, but the Atkinson battery held their nerve to get the third out and give the Pirates a much-needed 11 runs to 7 victory.

Butler, J Goodman, Pat Fraser, and Brett and Peter Atkinson were superb defensively in the victory, while Vernocchi and Flinn did their best to try and get Macclesfield the win.

Strathalbyn Golf Club

McNulty on fire to win Stableford

By Perry Jones

On the warmest day for some time on the Strathalbyn golf course, Peter McNulty was certainly running hot in the Stableford competition when he collected 42 points to win the day, with just one grade being the order for summer golf this season.

On a day when the early morning golfers returned some of the best scores for the day, the Irish man came in with 42 points, 24 on the front nine, to beat Ben Clark with 41 points and Michael Clarke bouncing back after a poor performance the Saturday before with 39 points.

Peter was quite happy with his effort having chalked up 39 points with a couple of birdies with just three holes to go, at one stage picking up 14 points in four holes.

The dam hole, the sixteenth, saw him falter a bit as he lost a ball and then only picked up three more points for the last three holes.

Also from the early starters came some sound scores with Mark Condon gaining 38 points, chipping in on the second hole and Damon Mayes scoring 35 points, going well with 20 on the front nine and then picking up a birdie on the twelfth despite his tee shot finishing on the eleventh fairway, saying it was all downhill from there, which the hole was.

Mike Semple, still enjoying his meat pie at the half way mark, got to 34 despite having three scrubs, probably still needs to continue his handy clearing in the rough for the club so he can improve his shots to the greens, which will be a bit smaller next week so that the watering reaches all parts of them.

Speaking of pies, last week's winner Alan Haberfield was munching into one and was then seen looking for his false teeth after teeing off on the tenth.

Apparently he took them out to eat his pie and put them in his pocket and when taking his handkerchief out of his pocket his teeth dropped out as well without realising it.

All was not lost as he got his bite back to go on and get 32 points for the round.

Gordon Robson probably wouldn't mind a bit of the rough trimmed, as he continues to spray his shots, not that it would have helped him last Saturday after his tee off on the first which saw him looking for his ball over the boundary fence on the left.

Michael Formby was lucky to finish with a handy 34 points when on the second he was just up ahead of Shelly Handke who was trying to get out of the rough, the ball just missing Michael then hitting a tree and flying back to its take off point. Next shot and Shelly was able to navigate the ball through the trees to land near he green.

After a good round the previous Saturday Brenton Welk was asked what was his biggest mistake for the day with just 22 points, saying it was driving out for a game of golf, with just 12 points on the front nine and 10 on the back.

Another to fall from grace from the previous round was Bruce Carr only managing 21 points this time, having had two aeries from the rough on the fifth but he still didn't win the Naga award of the 33 players, as he lost it on a count back to Tim Formby who at last had a free Saturday and quite upbeat on trailing the field.

While Kirk Richardson found the fairways better this time with his shots for 37 points, Graeme Bertholini had a reasonable day with 31 points, with a couple of birdies, a nearest the pin and longest drive for the round and along with Nobby was a meat tray winner.

Brian Simpson gets another mention not because of his 34 but his bad putting habits in rubbing off on others, Tony Cash on the seventh saying he was like Brian, left with a one foot putt not able to get the ball to go the distance.

Des Kelly had a poor return of 10 on the front nine, saying it was typical bad golf, having hit the ball over the boundary fence on the seventh, with playing partner Nobby then hopping over the fence finding at least a dozen balls but not the one Des was playing with.

Des picked up his form on the back nine with another 19 points, as Dennis

Gatehouse said his game was similar to that of what was supplied by Des but he was still happy to be one better with 11 on the front nine than the previous Saturday and two better on the back nine to finish with 23 for the round.

Kevin Shepley, who took the covers of his clubs this time before he lost them during his round again, was one of the trio trying to win the $130 jackpot putting and hoping for the money to defray expenses in going to Launceston this week to play in the over 70s cricket carnival, alas, like Red Sorrell and Dennis Gatehouse he missed his putt.

This Saturday is the first stroke round for the Summer Cup.

Strathalbyn Ladies Golf

Tonya Merritt wins with 35 points

Wednesday, November 2 dawned quite chilly and looked drizzly in the distance. However, the 11 ladies who headed out for a Stableford round of golf finished in fine weather with the course being in great condition even after the rain on previous days. Thank you to all the volunteers who give their time to keep it this way.

Tonya Merritt won the day with a great 35 points, followed by Mel Johnson with 31. Jo Pickhaver was next with 29, Ann Semple followed on a countback from Amanda Vardon, both on 26.

Jo Cullen and Penny Geue both had 25 points, Marie Kingsbury had 23, Carol Pelle came next on a countback from Sue Sutton, both with 22 and Pauline Walkom had 21 points.

Penny's highlight of the day was a 90-metre gobbler (chip in) on the 11th hole.

Pauline's highlight came on the 9th hole when she had a birdie/gobbler and Mel had her gobbler on the 5th hole.

Well done, ladies. Carol Pelle had a very good drive on the 9th to claim the NTP prize for the day.

Jo Cullen's comment of the day was that her eye fell out and she had to play the rest of the game by braille.

Evidently, her day did not go as she had planned. Jo P, Mel and Penny all visited the dam and donated yet another ball to the water!!! When will they learn?

On Sunday, October 30, Di Krutli and Jo Pickhaver represented the club at South Lakes as part of their November Week.

They played in a 9hole Pinehurst competition. The weather was atrocious!!

To begin with, there was a soft drizzle that eventually changed into just blustery wind that was constant for the rest of the round.

Their golf matched the weather, but the company was enjoyable.

Di could claim an injury as she scrapped her arm as she got her buggy out and played with a large bruise on her forearm.

Six ladies from the club, Susy Schebella, Jenny Drury, Maureen Need, Jo Pickhaver, Sue Phillips and Di Krutli, donned their Melbourne Cup finery and enjoyed a delicious 3-course meal at the South Lakes Golf Club.

Sue won the best hat in a borrowed hat from Maureen.

She won a lovely prize including wine and a candle. A couple of the ladies had wins from the sweeps on the day and one collected from the TAB.

All had a very enjoyable day catching up with friends from other clubs in the area.

Jo Pickhaver and Di Krutli experiencing a windy day at South Lakes.

Melbourne Cup lunch for these ladies: Susy Schebella, Jenny Drury, Maureen Need, Jo Pickhaver, Sue Phillips and Di Krutli.

Closed Championship kicks off for local shooters

Last year's winner, Ali Hansen, has further success in her sights.

The 2022/23 No.2 District Rifle Association Closed Championship began this past Saturday at the Deed Range in Monarto.

A magnificent Spring Day provided the backdrop as shooters competed in two rounds, one from 500 metres and one from 600 metres.

The weather, while warm and mostly sunny, also had a subtle and fluctuating breeze that tested shooters throughout the day.

Competition was tight across the grades, but perhaps no more than in F-Class Standard, where last year's SARA Medal winner, Ali Hansen, got away to the best of starts, winning the round by a single point from Richard McInnes, 112.01 to 111.07.

However, the top 5 shooters in the grade were only separated by three points, with Eddie Concannon and Gordon Harrison finishing on 110.05 and 110.01, and previous winner, Darryl Pink, on 109.04.

Frank Marshall was somewhat adrift with a 97.00, while Martin Craig was the only F-Standard B-grade competitor with 101.05.

F-Open was also close, with only three points dividing the four shooters.

However, it was Tim Manning who won the day with 117.09, ahead of Rob Mitchell and Ian Elston, both on 115.06, and David McDonald on 114.05.

There was only a single A-grader in Target Rifle this stage, with Greg Traeger managing to hold on for the overall win with a 97.03 ahead of the top B-grader on the day, David Gardner, who scored a 96.02.

There was a meaningful gap before the rest of the field, with Jasmine Irvine the next best on 90.00, ahead of husband Daniel on 89.01. Glen Cakebread rounded out the field with an 83.02.

Loui Burke was the only representative from F-SH, scoring a 93.06.

The competition continues early next year, with the second stage to be shot at the Mount Barker Range.
